MILLIONAIRE BANKERS WIFE ACCUSED OF BEING FALSE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Mar. 23—A definite charge that Mrs. Anna Stillman, the wife of James Stillman, president of the National City Bank of New York, was the mother of a child by an Indian guide, was made in the supreme court by counsel for Stillman during the preliminary arguments in a divorce suit the bank president has brought.

MINING NOTES

Mr. John A. McDonald has returned from a trip into Sonora, Mexico. It is rumored around town that the Hardshell mine shot into a large body of ore Tuesday night. It is said this ore was encountered in the X cut from the bottom of the new shaft, and that they did not anticipate getting into the ore for at least sixty feet further.

The Hardshell Mine are shipping a car of high-grade lead-silver ore. This is an excellent car of ore, a great deal of which is pure galena with a high silver content.

It is a great pity that Patagonia has no band, but it is not too late to organize one. We suggest that the ladies of Patagonia make an effort to organize a young ladies' string band and we are satisfied that funds can be easily raised with which to pay an instructor.

Mr. Chase, manager of the San Rafael Ranch, has been appointed collector of customs at El Paso, Texas. Mr. Chase is a son-in-law of Senator A. D. Falls. Mr. Chase was in Patagonia Wednesday receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends.

WILLIAM R. HANSON

William R. Hanson of Malden, Mass., who inherited $250,000 left him by a great uncle, will keep his job as janitor in a Malden drug store.

FOURTH-CLASS POST MASTER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Elgin, Ariz., on March 26, 1921 as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth-class postmaster at Elgin and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement.

Applicants must have reached their twenty-first birthday on the date of the examination, with the exception that in a State where women are declared by statute to be at full age for all purposes at eighteen years, women eighteen years of age on the date of the examination will be admitted.

RECEIVES LUMBER

The Patagonia Lumber Company received a car load of lumber from Oregon one day this week, and the freight alone amounted to $450. We have heard a great deal of late about cheap lumber, and as a matter of fact prices of lumber have been greatly reduced, but there will really be no cheap lumber any more as long as the railroads exact such exorbitant freight rates as are now in effect.

HOME BURGLARIZED

We understand that the home of J. C. Holmes, situated about six miles from Patagonia, was burglarized a few days ago while Mr. Holmes was absent. Included in the article taken were a pistol, a suit case, some clothing, etc.

GOOD SERMONS PREACHED

Dr. Adkinson, of Phoenix, held religious services at the school house in Patagonia last Sunday morning and evening. Good sized and attentive audiences listened at both discourses. Dr. Adkinson expects to send a preacher here about the first of April who will locate and take charge of the Methodist church.

TURKISH TROOPS ARE SAID TO BE STURDY FIGHTERS

ATHENS, Mar. 24—Greek troops numbering 120,000 are participating in the Greek offensive which was launched yesterday against the Turkish nationalist forces in Asia Minor, it is reported. The Turkish nationalists are believed to be about 90,000 and are effective fighters in the field, although their supplies are smaller. It is anticipated the Greeks will win important positions with the first drives.

SONOITA Sayings

Mr. and Mrs. Austin have lately returned to their home; they have been up in the Salt River Valley for the last 6 or 7 months where their daughter is attending high school. Mr. Austin says if he can get a dozen cows he knows he can make a better living here than he could in the valley. Let's all boost this country as a dairy country. As soon as the people can get fixed to put in silos and get cows this will be one of the foremost dairy countries in Arizona. These silos have tried and are showing are very much pleased with their investments. Success.

Clay Larimore, a cousin of R. R. Larimore has been to visit at the Larimores for several days; he lives in Dakota and started for his home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Bryant attended the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Shook last Saturday night; they report having a fine time and say there was a large crowd turned out.

Ollie Parker, S. P. Section foreman, left Tuesday for New Mexico, where he was transferred by the R. R. Company.

Mrs. M. Rouse spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Honnas, they were sewing and visiting combined.

Cecil Honnas, while playing at school Monday, stepped on a piece of wood and sprained his ankle, but not bad; he is hopping around on one foot at present.

G. P. Woodward and son Hardy went over to Vail a few days ago and they had some auto trouble, having nineteen punctures on the trip. They got home about 10 p. m. all tired out.

It has tried lately to rain but without much success. It rained a shower on Thursday of last week and again on Sunday but not ample to start the grass.

CARDINAL GIBBONS IS DEAD AT AGE OF 87 YEARS

BALTIMORE, Mar. 24—James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore and Primate of the American Catholic church, died at the Archbishop residence after a pronounced illness which mainly affected his heart. He was in his 87th year. The end came peacefully at 11:35 o'clock a. m.

Cardinal Gibbons, as senior bishop of the church, wielded a strong influence outside as well as within the United States. The confidant of three popes, he made several important tours to Rome, the last in August, 1914, a few days after the opening of the war, to elect the successor to Sixtus X. He arrived too late, however, to participate in the ceremony that elevated Benedict to the Pontificate.

Upon returning to the United States he visited President Wilson, informed the latter of affairs in Europe and discussed means to bring about peace. The Cardinal was strongly interested in the affairs of the church in Mexico during the troublous times in that country and declared that he feared fighting would never cease under the Carranza regime. It was largely as a result of his efforts that the condition of the clergy and nuns of Mexico was ameliorated.

Cardinal Gibbons was active in his work for the Allies in the war and in a letter written to the Catholics of the archdiocese of New York in 1917 when the United States entered the conflict, urged the fullest support of the government. A few months previously he sent $10,000 to the American Committee in London for the relief of the Belgians, one of the many notable instances of his benevolence. In a sermon at Baltimore, in 1918, he praised the speech by Lloyd George and said that Germany's war aims would fail. About the same time he explained Benedict's war policy, an article which so pleased the Pope that he ordered it translated and published broadcast. In it he asserted sympathetically with the Allied aim of winning the war "for permanent peace." To achieve this result he also expressed opposition to a cessation of hostilities when Austria made fresh overtures.

Celebrating his 30th anniversary as Bishop in Baltimore, on October 21, 1918, an event attended by ecclesiastics from all over the world, he received among many other gifts the decoration of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor from France. Italy also decorated him. A month later he joined with former President Roosevelt, both of whom had been friends of years, in a message of cheer to the American Expeditionary Forces. On June 30, 1919, he observed his 23rd anniversary as Cardinal Archbishop and the 25th year of his priesthood. Cardinal Mercur, the heroic primate of Belgium, visited him on this occasion. The Cardinal's views on politics.

COLLECTIONS WILL BRING IN SUM OF $3,050,000,000

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24—Income and profits tax collections called for on the March 15th installment is estimated by Secretary Mellon to aggregate $675,000,000 to the close of business March 22, $650,000,000 have actually been deposited from the collection, Mellon said. Mellon estimated a total revenue from the income profits taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30 would aggregate $3,050,000,000. The collections were fully up to treasury expectations, he said.

PARKER Canyon

Last Thursday, during the day and night, a good rain fell, which was very much appreciated by the people in this vicinity. The cattle are showing the benefit of these rains and the loss of cattle will be comparatively light.

The son of Mr. Wright, who, with his son have recently located on what is known as the Leon place, had a narrow escape from being struck by lightning. He was badly shocked, and was nearly unconscious.

In a recent suit brought by the United States against a cattleman, some points were brought out that were not brought to the attention of lawyers in former cases. The claim for damages was not sustained by the court. The suit was for trespass and damages for having move cattle on the Forest Reserve that was allowed by the permit.

The Forest Service appears to be between two fires. Eastern Congressmen are insisting that the service should be self-sustaining, and that grazing fees should be raised. The cattlemen are protesting against any further advance of rates. Our efficient and watchful Congressman, Honorable Carl Hayden, has so far, blocked the raise desired. The question is now with the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Cattlemen's Association is expected to present their case to the Honorable Secretary. Mr. Hayden ably presented the views that the Forests of the United States are National assets instead of local as the opposition viewed them.

It is estimated that more than twenty-five millions of immigrants from Europe are wanting to locate in the United States and Canada. Canada has arranged a leave that only permits desirable ones to enter her borders. Some interests are endeavoring to have the United States flood gates kept open.

BIG TIME SUNDAY

Patagonia were treated to a regular carnival last Sunday afternoon. The first thing on the program was a spirited baseball game between the American and Mexican teams. At the conclusion the crowd—and it was a big crowd—congregated on Main Street where some thrilling stunts were pulled off, consisting of horse racing, boxing contests, foot races, and other amusements. There was not a dull moment during the nearly two hour's performance, and many of the performers displayed surprising talents.

A petition was circulated the first of the week soliciting contributions for the purchase of base ball paraphernalia, and all our citizens responded generously, with the result that more than $100 was secured. The Captain of the team went to Nogales Wednesday and purchased a full outfit of gloves, bats, balls, etc., which will be used in the game next Sunday afternoon. The promoters of the game are very enthusiastic over the start they have made to amuse the people, and state that a good base ball team will greatly boost Patagonia. They also ask the people to boost the ball team.

We are requested to state that on next Sunday afternoon, 2 P. M. there will be, in addition to the ball game, broncho busting, horse races and other amusements. Everybody invited to attend and have a big time.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

When children begin to attend school their thoughts should be directed constantly to their work, and between the school and needed exercise, there is not much time to think of clothing, save that to be neat and clean and suitable to the means of the parents. God never intended the people of moderate means to rival the bird of paradise in raiment. The mother who talks dyes and finery constantly must not expect to bring up children who care for questions of church and state and humanity when grown. In some families, it is a subject under constant consideration and the problem of clothes is a much greater one than any one of the great ones on truth and right and justice and patriotism.

MAY START WORK

Road work will undoubtedly be started up in this district within the next few days, despite the skepticism upon the part of a few individuals with regard to its ever starting. Patience is one of the lessons which is learned only in the school of experience. And the man who learns it perfectly can overcome all obstacles and difficulties that beset his pathway.

WAS ACQUITTED

Dale Goodrich was in town yesterday and called our attention to the fact that Nogales newspapers a few days ago published an account of him being arrested, tried and fined for selling beef without a butcher's license. Mr. Goodrich states that he was not fined, but was promptly acquitted after the county attorney heard the evidence in the case. Mr. Goodrich is a good citizen and had no idea of violating any law and the Patagonian is glad to know that he was completely exonerated of any attempt to evade any law.

RIOT MOBS DISPERSED WITH HAND GRENADES

HAMBURG, Mar. 24—Fifteen civilians and one police officer were killed and six persons wounded in riots. The mob attempted to break through a police cordon about the ship yards and disarm the police. The police ordered the crowd to disperse and when the order was ignored the officers opened fire and threw hand grenades into the mob. The ship yards are closed.

LONDON, Mar. 24—Communist disorders in central Germany are increasing and large sections of the industrial regions are actually in the hands of the insurgents, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam which quotes telephonic advices from Berlin.

Reports from Saxony state that many buildings have been damaged by dynamite in various towns and the Mansfeld prisons were opened and the inmates liberated. Complete anarchy is declared at Heistadt where all banks were raided and the population is fleeing in panic. Central News advices from Hamburg say more than 50 communists and police were killed in fighting. The message adds the fighting is continuing. The police were defeated at Steinwarder Island after a fierce battle.

San Rafael Siftings

Mrs. Way is a guest at the home of her niece, Mrs. J. D. Rountree this week.

Valleyites in Patagonia for supplies first of the week included Ben Curtis, Clyde Baldwin, Chas. Young and Ed Galloway and A. L. Kinsey.

Ernest Best and P. Bergier were valley visitors, early in the week.

Regular meeting of S. R. S. C. was held Saturday evening, enjoyed, but not largely attended. Visitors including Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bower and son Charles, Miss Maloney and Wilfred Kinsey of Canille, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gatin and sons Cole and Homer, and Mrs. Ritchie from Patagonia.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

We are requested to state that there will be Sunday school at the public school building next Sunday, and parents are requested to get their children ready in time to attend. Service will begin promptly at 10 o'clock. Listen for the bell.

BABY BOY BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Davo Putnam are the proud parents of an eight and a half pound boy, which arrived Monday morning. The mother and babe are reported to be getting along nicely.

OLLIE PARKER LEAVES

One of Ollie Parker's many Patagonia friends handed in the following news item this week with the request that it be published: "Ollie Parker, section foreman at Crittenden, has been transferred from Crittenden to a section in New Mexico, near El Paso, Texas, where he will make his home. It is said by all trainmen that Mr. Parker is the best track man that has been on the Crittenden section for a number of years, and he has many friends here who regret his departure. We wish him the very best of luck and hope to see him back here in a short time."

C. N. Shaffer who has been at work for the past three weeks on the Elgin-Rain Valley highway, returned home the first of the week and stated that the job had been completed.

EDITORIAL

Unless we take pride in our home town, how can we expect others to do so? Unless we work for its growth and advancement, how can we expect others to be interested in it? Unless we can see in it remarkable possibilities, how can we expect others to find them? Don't go about murmuring because the town some times looks a little out at the elbows—whose fault is it? What composes a town anyway? Is it a town the streets, the business houses, the residences that happen to have been placed on a few blocks of earth? No—a town is the people that make up the population. Is it the traveling men who come on one train and leave on the next? Is it the tourists that go through in their cars? No—it's the people who spend their lives within it's borders—who put the imprint of their personality upon its customs, its ordinances, its appearance. In that case, whose fault is it if the town looks a little seedy—if traveling men occasionally say it is a good place to die in? It is obody's fault but the citizens of the town who persistently knock it. The growth and development of a town is in inverse ratio to the number and strength of its "knockers". Regardless of what your reputation for veracity may be at home, people are going to believe you abroad when you say your town is on the dead list. So put a padlock on your tongue and your shoulder to the wheel if you want your town to improve.

THE BUSINESS OF LIFE

The task appointed unto us is admirably stated in a recent issue of Collier's. Nothing finer as to the stern business set, before us has recently appeared in print: "To hold the vision of a final arrival at some fitting destination; to maintain undiminished a sense of personal worthiness; to be defeated in each foolish dream of your young life, and so to be disciplined into a larger vision, made more sure by adversity; to be delayed for most of a lifetime, and yet to believe in the strength of human spirit to surmount pain, outlive sin and defeat malice and envy; to believe in the gradual but all-conquering power of good will; to be saddened but not embittered; to be beaten but not conquered. That is the stern business set before us."

Perhaps some of our readers think we are rather overdoing the matter when we harp so continually upon making a good impression as a town, on outsiders. You may thoughtlessly argue that it doesn't make any difference what other people think—that we know what we have and that is all that is necessary. But that is not all that is necessary. If it were, we may rest assured that we now have all we will ever get. In order to progress it is necessary to secure favorable attention outside of our own town. We must indulge good live folks to make their home in our town, and we must encourage outside business men to consider our advantages from a commercial standpoint. This is never accomplished by a spirit of smug complacency. We've got to keep moving and toot our own horn at the street crossings.

A contribution of half a million dollars from the Rockefeller fortune has been made to the Chinese famine sufferers. Tainted money loses its taint when so employed. This would be a great old world is all of us were as charitable in proportion as to income as old John D. is. It is customary for some of us to say after every Rockefeller gift, "Well, the old man can afford it." So he can. But when he was a poor boy he was free with his gifts to worthy causes. When he was a struggling young bookkeeper with a family to support he was liberal with charities. Today, with an income which keeps him and his children busy at receiving for, he is by far the most liberal giver the world ever produced.

Some persons seem to think that laughter is a sinful habit; or a very immodest one. Never a team of cheerfulness brightens their countenances, and the exhaling influences of such persons cast a gloom of profound sadness over their surroundings.

By boring a hole in the earth's surface twelve miles in depth, enough energy would be discovered to furnish all the motive power of the world, according to a British scientist. If such a hole would perform such a service it ought to be bored at once. There is a great deal of waste connected with our present power plants. Coal is being dug in enormous quantities and wasted the same way.

If you have made up your mind to live in a town, then stand up for it, and if you know positively no good, then silence is golden. Do all you can to help along every man who is engaged in a legitimate business. Do not send away for everything nice you want and still expect the home men to keep a stock to suit the whim of one or two customers. The success of your fellow townsman will be your success.

Personally we have never quite understood why they pay the baseball pitcher so much and the rooters so little.

About the only distinction some of our young men achieve is in making their automobiles turn turtle.

Government officials say women of this country used twenty billion cigarettes last year and spent three quarters of a billion dollars on cosmetics.

The lip-stick is coming in for a whole lot of ridicule, but it is infinitely better than the snuff-stick.

The idea is to put the blue laws on the black list.

And if the women wear all cotton in order to help the farmers, where will the wool men get off?

It has just about gotten so in this country that they call a man a grouch if he doesn't whistle all day.

If all men are born free and equal, how is it that some camels have one hump and some others have two? Now answer that, please.

Sometimes a man is so lazy he would rather come late and kiss his wife than arrive early and work the garden.

The weather continues fine and the town gardens are beginning to look as though the good old summer time is not merely coming on apace, but is already here.

Straw hats and palm beach suits are now included in the window displays of the stores.

Although somewhat speculatively inclined, a friend of ours says he has never got much stimulation from reading his life insurance policy.

Don't fret and fume at the petty ills of life; remember that the wheels which go round without creaking last longest.

Kind words, kind looks, kind deeds, these are what win. Try and see.

Sore Politicians Trying To Oust Cameron

PHOENIX, Mar. 22—Is Ralph Cameron's seat in the United States Senate as secure as it might appear to be on the surface?

This is a question that is agitating the political gossips around the capitol. The rumor is that "they are after Ralph." The attack on the newly elected senator who defeated Mark Smith at the last election, apparently is being made from Washington. Whether or not it will develop depends upon the result of investigations said to be under way.

Nothing very definite has been brought to light. One thing is known positively, however, and that is that an agent of the department of justice, acting under orders from Washington, it is said, called at the office of the secretary of state out at the capitol in Phoenix, and looked over the statement of expenditures for the recent campaign filed by Senator Cameron. The statement was filed by the senator from Arizona in compliance with the state law.

The supposedly "inside" story is that somebody in Washington recently got to feeling good and began to "tell the world" how much Ralph Cameron spent to be elected to congress. Astonishing figures were quoted, according to the story, which reached official ears. The appearance of the secret service man at the state house last week. It is probable that the department of justice may be merely playing the game safe and is checking up the campaign expenditures of Sen. Cameron to see if there is any truth to the story that somebody started circulating in Washington.

The Phoenix office of the department of justice stated to a Herald reporter this afternoon that his office is not carrying on the work of investigating the senator's campaign funds. He also stated that this investigation could very likely be conducted through another office of the department.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

PHOENIX, Mar. 18—The much discussed industrial commission bill was signed by the governor late yesterday. The bill creates an industrial commission of three members, serving terms of two, four and six years, each at a salary of $8000 per year. The commission will appoint its own secretary. The industrial commission bill is one of the few really important bills passed by the legislature. It is the outgrowth of agitation from both the employer and employee over the unsatisfactory results obtained under the present workmen's compensation law and the employer's liability law. The new law combines the best features of both of these, and goes further into the matter of state regulation of the relationship of employer and employee. It provides for industrial insurance, provided for by the state, the employer, and the employee. It goes into the matter of labor disputes and sets up machinery for mediation and arbitration in which the state has a hand. It also provides for the rehabilitation of injured employees. The bill won friends and incurred enemies during its course through the legislature. It was supported by both employers and employees and it was fought by both elements. Some of the most vigorous opponents of the bill were representatives of the "ambulance chasing lawyers" as well as some of the strongest casualty insurance companies. The latter's interests were aroused when it was learned that the bill proposes to take a hand in regulating the insuring of the men and the companies by casualty insurance companies.

More Money Than Ever in State Road Fund

PHOENIX, Mar. 21—Revenue from auto licenses in the state show some increase over the revenue brought in on the same item a year ago, according to information given out at the office of secretary of state.

Up to March 15 a total of $165,000 was paid into the state treasury by applicants for auto licenses. Up to April 1, 1920, the total was $92,000. The total revenue for last year was $192,000. The figure this year is expected to exceed the figure of a year ago by a big margin.

All revenue collected from the auto license department is turned over to the road fund. This year the road fund will be enriched by an additional revenue in the shape of the new gasoline tax. This tax is counted upon to bring another $150,000 to the road fund.

THREE BANKS CLOSED FOR LIQUIDATION

PHOENIX, Mar. 23—The Citizens' State Bank of Phoenix and the Central Bank of Wickenburg near here closed this morning and were placed in the hands of Charles W. Fairfield, state auditor, and the bank directors. According to a statement the Official Exchange Bank of Peoria capitalized at $25,000, closed its doors voluntarily and the affairs were placed in the hands of bank directors.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists.

STATE IS HEAVY DEPOSITOR IN CLOSED BANK

PHOENIX, Mar. 22—With no other official statement forthcoming as to how much depositors will be able to realize on their deposits in the Central Bank of Phoenix which did not open for business this morning, the public will have to wait until the state bank examiner has examined the books of the bank.

The work of going through the bank's records was taken up this morning under the direction of Charles Fairfield, state auditor. Edward C. Bradford, bank examiner, and his deputies are doing the work. It is expected that this will take four or five days at least. When the work is completed, the state auditor will make his report to the governor and the attorney general, who will in turn, throw the matter into the superior court for a final disposition.

The State of Arizona was a heavy depositor in the bank. According to a hurried survey of the records, it is estimated that these deposits will reach the figure of about $440,000. Beside this lump sum, there are the deposits of a number of individual state offices and departments which had deposits in the defunct bank. These deposits, however, will not total nearly as much as the four hundred thousand figure.

Probably the largest depositor in this respect is the office of the corporation commission. While officials of the commission could not give the exact amount, it is said that the deposit will run from $90,000 to $80,000. The livestock sanitary board had about $3300 in the bank, and the game warden's office had about $1400 in.

A redeeming feature about the state deposits in the bank is that they are all secured by bonding companies, under the state law. The sureties will have to make good in the event the closed bank will not be able to realize fully on all of its resources.

Campbell To Go To Washington Sometime in April

PHOENIX, Mar. 19—Governor Campbell will go to Washington probably about the middle of April. This announcement was made at the executive offices today. The governor wishes to be on hand at the opening of congress. He will attend as a delegate from the southwest to take up with party leaders the matter of securing irrigation legislation effecting the entire west.

GOVERNOR CAMPBELL CHOPS UP OMNIBUS BILL BEFORE SIGNING; $50,000 CUT FROM THIS COUNTY

PHOENIX, Mar. 23—In a letter that sizzled with a scorching arraignment of the bill itself and the legislature that passed it, Gov. Campbell late today informed the secretary of state that he has signed the notorious omnibus roads bill.

As exclusively announced in the Nogales Herald some days ago that such would be the course followed by the chief executive, certain important sections or items of the bill received the official ax. They were cut out from the bill by the governor before it finally received his signature of approval.

The items stricken from the bill were those amendments attached to the bill by the legislature after the bill was framed by the roads committee and submitted to the entire body for passage. They are items that call for specific appropriations on specific roads throughout the state. Some of these items, the governor stated, were meritorious and he regretted being forced to strike them out because of the burdens they would place on the taxpayers at this particular time. Other of these items, however, according to his letter, were the result of an outstanding desire on the part of their sponsors "to construction by the state to projects that are links to the general state highway system.

Taking up the bill itself and what appears to have been the attitude of the legislature on road legislation in general and this bill in particular, the governor launches into his subject in the following vigorous paragraphs:
Observation and experience have demonstrated that the present plan of building state highways is open to severe censure. It is to be regretted that the legislature found itself unable or unwilling to agree on a different, more efficient and more economical method than the one it adopted. Local self-interest, and not the benefit of the state as a whole, seemed to be the dominating idea in framing senate bill No. 51. This selfish and narrow spirit was in the ascendancy at all times and is found deeply imbedded in the measure. Log-rolling and pork barrel tactics, which are always concomitants of poor legislation, were markedly in evidence. The outstanding desire, casting aside other considerations which should have had weight in the framing of this bill, seemed to be to get a slice of pork for some particular locality.
If it were not for the fact that our laws are patently inadequate to admit the construction of a system of state highways, due to the selfish limitation that 75 per cent of all monies raised, except for special appropriations and relatively nominal sums from sources other than by tax levy, must be expended in the counties of their origin, leaving counties poor in taxable wealth but large in area to shift for themselves, I would veto this measure in its entirety. It is necessary, however, to work with the tools provided by legislative will, as expressed in senate bill No. 51, and endeavor to save such portions of it as will assist in the construction of highways where most needed, particularly those on which large sums of money have been spent, are yet incomplete and therefore cannot be utilized by the public.
The bill is an emergency measure and as such goes into effect immediately. Whether or not some disgruntled community or individual will attack the constitutionality of the bill in the courts is a problem of the future he expended the next few months are as follows, 1-2 of which is federal aid: Paving city limits Tucson South contract already laid and construction work now under way the distance of 10 miles and the approximate cost of $300,000.

Bridges, etc., on the state highway Nogales-Tucson 38 miles, $150,000.
Santa Cruz county line to Fairbanks, Cochise county, 17 miles, $120,000. Cochise county line to Nogales, 48 miles, to be expended $200,000, or a total of $770,000. Approximately 23 of this amount was directly tributary to Nogales. All these projects have already been approved by the bureau of federal roads.

Sen. Schleimer's $50,000 item for paying the highway out of Nogales is among those that fell under the governor's ax. Many other items were disapproved by the governor.
After outlining the general aim and plan for a general system of state highways, as followed for years, the governor says he grants the value of some of the projects he eliminated from the bill, thinking it best in the present stringent times to confine road

COMMENT
(By I. P. Fraeger, Division Engineer)
While we bewail our loss of $190,000 ($50,000 as carried by the omnibus bill and $50,000 federal aid) for approximately 3 1/2 miles of paving from the city line north on the Nogales-Tucson highway, yet in analyzing the bill we see where there is provision in it that stipulate $150,000 ($75,000 carried in the bill, $75,000 federal aid) for bridges, culverts and concrete, ferds will be expended on the Nogales-Tucson highway. Also $80,000 ($40,000 as carried in the bill, $40,000 federal aid) between the Santa Cruz line and Fairbanks.

Central Bank of Phoenix
Closes Its Doors

PHOENIX, Mar. 21—Central Bank of Phoenix, one of the smaller banks of the community, voluntarily closed its doors this morning not reopening for business today. This action was taken when the officers of the institution after working on the books all day Sunday reported the condition of affairs to the board of directors this morning.

The affairs of the bank have been taken over by Charles Fairfield, state auditor, who has called his bank examiners in off the road and they will immediately start an examination of the books which will take three or four days. Until this is done the actual conditions of the bank's affairs will not be known.

The bank held checking deposits of a little over $1,500,000 and savings deposits of $125,000 according to statement issued on last bank call February 21. Action of this bank is not to be construed as indicating banking conditions in Phoenix or other parts of the state. The president of the bank is Dean Stafford who came to Phoenix from Missouri a year ago and bought heavily of stocks in the bank and became president. He is at his home under care of a doctor as his health has not been good lately.

A STORY of another world, curiously captivating in its romantic qualities and in the originality of its conception. The spirit of adventure carried beyond earth, into the realms of space.

No one but the author of the "Tarzan" tales has an imagination sufficiently bold to create such a narrative and make it charming. It is weird, bewildering, fascinating. So unusual are the characters and episodes that the reader falls under their spell and finds himself viewing as it were, a pageant of happenings in another sphere.
