NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Pacific Peace Treaty Signed and Agreement on Navy Plan Is Announced.

CHINA PROBLEM IS HARDER

Irish Pact Before British Parliament and Dail Eireann for Ratification War Between Chile and Peru Threatened Over Tacna-Arica.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

STEADILY and sanely the Washington conference is performing the great task which President Harding set for it. Such was the progress made last week that it seemed likely the major problems would be solved before the holidays and that the conference would adjourn, leaving details to be settled by experts and certain of the questions to be handled by future conferences.

The way was cleared effectively by the quadruple agreement for stabilization of peace in the Pacific. This, in the form of a treaty, was signed on Tuesday by the delegates of the four powers and now awaits formal ratification by the legislative bodies of those nations. That it will be ratified in Great Britain, France and Japan is beyond doubt, and there are few who think that the American senate will not also accept it. Senator Borah of course has announced his opposition to the treaty, and Senators Reed and LaFollette stand with him. They profess to find in its second article commitments similar to those in Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant, and even worse than the latter. So far no one else worth mentioning has discovered the terrible danger in Article 2. Those who approve of the treaty—and they appear to be decidedly in the majority both in the senate and in the country generally—agree with Premier Takahashi of Japan, who says the pact is "the grandest contribution to the cause of peace ever recorded in history."

There were rumors in Washington that former President Wilson was advising the Democratic senators to fight the treaty, but more reliable reports were to the effect that he had urged them not to commit themselves until the conference had completed its work and the pact could be studied in its relations to the other agreements reached. Of course Senator Underwood, the Democratic leader in the senate, cannot oppose the treaty for he signed it as one of the delegates. When President Harding will send it in for ratification is not known. It may not be until after the holiday recess.

WITH that treaty out of its way, the conference resumed consideration of the naval reduction and limitation plan. The Japanese pleaded earnestly to be permitted to retain their new pet dreadnaught, the Mutsu. For several days the Americans held out against this, but finally it was agreed to, with the understanding that, to maintain the 5-5-3 ratio, the American navy should retain the super-dreadnaught Colorado and Washington in place of the Delaware and the North Dakota, and that Great Britain should retain two of the new Hood type battleships already planned. But those Hood vessels as designed would be more powerful than either the Colorado or the Mutsu class, so it was suggested that they should not be built any larger than the Colorado.

This plan was accepted by all and the naval agreement was formally announced to the conference. The pact includes the provision that there shall be no increases in fortifications and naval bases in the Pacific region, including the Hongkong and Kow Loon. This restriction does not apply to the Hawaiian Islands, Australia, New Zealand, and Japan proper, nor to the coasts of the United States and Canada.

SHOW INCREASE IN EXPORTS

San Francisco.—Export business through the port of San Francisco is on the increase. It advanced in October nearly a million dollars over September. Exports for October were $14,638,408 and in September $13,944,071. Exports for October in previous years were: 1920, $22,024,948; 1919, $10,439,980; 1918, $18,007,576; 1917, $13,862,500.

China's delegation stepped forward again on Wednesday with formal plea to the Far Eastern committee for the abrogation of the treaties growing out of the twenty-one demands of Japan in 1915, which China says she was forced to accept. By these treaties Japan retains her hold on Shantung and Manchuria. The Japanese delegates quickly and sharply objected to the Chinese proposal and the committee adjourned sine die. Meanwhile the negotiations between the Japanese and Chinese outside the confining walls of the conference are continuing, the latter offering forward a plan by which Chinese bankers propose to purchase from Japan the ownership and control of the Shantung railroad—the nub of the whole controversy over that province. It was said the Japanese had so far receded from their original claims for retention of half ownership that they were now willing to give up the road, with certain reservations concerning the methods and security for payment, and also preferential rights of investment. These rights might result in giving the Japanese actual control of the management, but China realizes that she cannot get all she asks.

The members of the conference evidently feel that the best they can do for China now is to adopt a new "bill of rights" for her which will enable her to organize a stable functioning government, and that to such a government may be left many of the country's problems and troubles.

To further complicate the Chinese problem came from the soviet government of Russia a protest against discussion of the Chinese Eastern railway by the conference. The road, which is of immense strategic and economic importance to Russia, China and Japan, was built by Russia and legally speaking belongs to Russia. For several years it has been managed by an interallied board whose chairman is John F. Stevens of America. Both the United States and Japan have spent large sums on the upkeep of the line.

Secretary Hughes made public the main points of the agreement entered into between the United States and Japan concerning Yap and the other islands north of the equator assigned to Japan by the treaty of Versailles. It confers upon the United States equal privileges with Japan in all those islands but imposes on it no obligations or responsibilities.

BRITISH and French statesmen and financiers have not yet been able to come to anything like agreement concerning the German reparations, and from both countries come unofficial but insistent calls to America to take part in the discussions. The hope is expressed daily that President Harding will call another conference to handle this problem and that of world finances generally. Meantime the senate finance committee is fussing with the administration's foreign loan refunding bill and trying to do things to it which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon does not like. He especially objected to a proposed provision requiring foreign nations to make payments of interest on their indebtedness to the United States semi-annually. He said this would seriously handicap negotiations for refunding the loans.

BOTH the British parliament and the Dail Eireann, the "poisoned parliament" of Ireland, met last week to receive the reports of the peace delegates and to act on the treaty they drew up. The British lawmakers were urged both by the king and Premier Lloyd George to ratify the treaty and, despite the opposition of a few "die-hards," there was no doubt that they would do so.

In Dublin the agreement was not having quite so smooth a path. From the outset De Valera made plain his opposition, if not to the whole treaty, at least to certain of its provisions, and he accused the Irish delegates of exceeding their powers in signing it before submitting it to the dail cabinet. Collins and Griffith, leaders of the treaty supporters, vigorously upheld their action and the debate became so warm that the dail went into secret session to settle that point, with the understanding that the debate on the acceptance of the treaty should be public. Observers were confident that a majority of the dail members 493 silver for the corresponding month last year. Gold imports totaled $1,252,647 and silver $121,358, against $538,801 gold and $584,274 silver in October, 1920.

Imports of duty-free goods in September were $3,318,000, and dutiable goods $2,114,634. Five million and a half pounds of coffee, worth $408,837, was the principal duty-free article of import. The principal dutiable commodities imported through this port were luscious and flaxseed oils which were valued at $126,240.

avored ratification, and they felt equally certain that if the question were referred to a plebiscite, as De Valera might ask, a large majority of the people of southern Ireland would vote for acceptance of the peace terms.

The opposition in the British parliament was voiced in the house of lords by Lord Edward Carson and in the commons by Capt. Charles Craig, brother of the Ulster premier. Already the Ulster cabinet had sent word to London that Ulster would not enter the Irish Free State, and it protested bitterly against the making of an Irish agreement without its consent. It charged that the treaty violates the word of King George and Premier Lloyd George. In the Ulster note exception was taken also to the boundary commission plan, it being contended that to remove territory from any government without that government's consent is without precedent.

Over here in America a lot of the professional Irish, like Justice Cohan of New York, are wildly denouncing the treaty. Just what they want us to do about it—whether to weep, or to declare war against England—they have not yet stated.

UNLESS someone intervenes, Chile and Peru are likely to have a war over the long disputed territory of Tacna-Arica. Technically a state of war has existed between them since the Peruvian assembly decreed the reincorporation of Tacna-Arica and Tarapaca in Peruvian territory. Now, though there are no diplomatic relations between the two countries, Chile has invited Peru to take part in a plebiscite in the territory, and has intimated that if Peru declines, Chile's only alternative is to annex Tacna-Arica. No one expects Peru to accept the invitation, and the government's organ, La Prensa de Lima, characterizes the Chilean note as "a gross insult following the deportation of Peruvians from the captured provinces." This journal suggests arbitration by the United States as the best way out of the tangle.

REPRESENTATIVES of 35,000 railway laborers met in New York and voted to reject any wage reduction proposals and to appeal to the railway labor board for increases in pay. Two days later that board dealt the maintenance of way men a hard blow in new rules it promulgated. Under this decision time and a half rates are to be paid after the eighth hour as usual instead of after the eighth hour as under the old national working agreement. The "basic" eight-hour day, however, is reaffirmed; but the new rules allow the carriers and employees to make agreements for reduction of working hours below eight to avoid making force reductions. The starting time of any shift, too, is to be arranged by mutual understanding. This knocks out rigid hour stipulations in the old agreement.

THE United Mine Workers of America won a partial victory on Thursday when the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago found Judge Anderson of Indianapolis was in error in enjoining the operation of the "checkoff" system and remanded the case back to him for rehearing. This action of the Court of Appeals was believed to have prevented a general strike of coal miners, already started in Indiana and Illinois.

Wives of the striking coal miners of Kansas, followers of the discredited and expelled Howat, were the leaders of mobs in the Pittsburg region which fiercely attacked miners who wished to work and raised such trouble generally that state troops were sent there.

GVERNOR HARDING of the federal reserve board, whose annual report was made public last week, is fairly optimistic. He says basic business and financial conditions throughout the country have improved greatly during the past year, though normalcy is yet to be attained.

"Until the purchasing power of the farmer improves," he continued, "it will, of course, be idle to look for any rapid or substantial improvement in domestic trade. I think, however, that the outlook for the farmers is more hopeful."

E. Mont Reilly will return to his post as governor of Porto Rico before the first of the year, it was announced following a conference between Reilly and the President. It is understood Reilly will carry back to Porto Rico written instructions as to his future administration there.

Rita Jaichner, pretty French girl, who alleges she toured Europe with R. L. Slaughter, Jr., wealthy son of a pioneer Texas cottonman, was awarded damages in excess of $200,000 for breach of promise, by Judge J. E. Gilbert, at Dallas.

A New Year's Promise

By Miriam Lee

NORMAN HARDY was born on New Year's day, and deemed the fact a decided misfortune. There was one feature in which his father specialized—system—and this involved discipline. "A strict disciplinarian," he would boast to his neighbors. "That's me," he looked it and acted it out until Norman fancied he had been placed in the world simply to become the butt and victim of rigid rules.

When Norman's tenth birthday was only eight hours distant, his father gave the order, sternly spoken: "You will be in the house for the night at seven o'clock," and Norman moped in a martyrlike way, envying his boy friends who had mapped out a joyous New Year's eve program of skating, hill sliding, and like boyish pranks. He wondered what was coming, but his father simply viewed him speculatively and sent him to bed at the usual time. He was awakened to find his father roughly pulling at his arm. "Get up, Norman, and come down to the kitchen," said Joel Hardy; "you needn't dress."

Norman arose, rubbed his eyes, and followed his father downstairs. There was a light on the table and beside it the house clock. Norman noticed that it told the time as ten minutes to twelve. All was still and solemn except his monotonous tick, and outside an occasional echo of shooting, announcing impatient celebrants already prepared to herald in the new year.

"My boy," spoke his father after a moment of ominous deliberation, "when I was a lad of ten, my father taught me a lesson that has left its impress on my whole life in a salutary way. Upon the tick of midnight just preceding my birthday he always called me down to the kitchen and gave me a good sound strapping. It hurt him more than it did me, he used to say, but the reminder would be ever present with me. Until I was twenty-one, regularly, upon each birthday the strap played its part and I think it did a good deal towards teaching me that I had a master and in making me a better man. I have endeavored to adopt that feature with my system. You're a pretty good boy, but for fear you might kick over the traces I'm going to bulk the system until you are of age. Now, then, take your punishment like a man."

Joel Hardy produced a short, thick piece of tanned cowhide and Norman winced, but did not cry out during the unique castigation. It was five years later, and with the usual routine late in the afternoon Joel Hardy reminded Norman of the pending midnight event. His eyes bulged and his face betrayed overwhelming amazement as Norman stood up before him, a tall, well-knit strapping, almost manly in his bearing as he said:

The New Year

WITH the whirling and the drifting of snows comes breathless the wild New Year; While bitter north wind blows, O'er the fields that lie stark and drear.

Yet hope is alight in her eyes As she looks from the heart of the storm, "Earth sleeps in her shroud," she cries, "But the life in her heart is warm."

"Death is but a dream of the night And the hymn of joy is begun, For almost seeking the light The great globe turns to the sun."

"Behold, I will bring delight In place of darkness and cold; Safe under the meadows so white Is hiding the buttercup gold."

"And summer's splendor shall reign In place of the winter's dearth, Her color and music again Shall gladden the patient earth."

Hark to the New Year's Voice Through the murk of winter drear! Oh, children of men, rejoice! At the tidings of hope and cheer. —Celia Thaxter.

o'clock, and then repaired to the agreed-on rendezvous of the crowd, an old buggy shed attached to a great barn owned by Farmer Logan. He felt uneasy, stubborn and nettled. Recently he had been dared by his companions to smoke a cigarette. He had met the dare and now, with two of them in his pocket, he lit one, and, in sheer rebellion against his father's system, was about to puff out his resentment when the signal cry of his comrades echoed forth. Carelessly throwing the lighted cigarette into a corner of the shed, he bounded out and for over an hour forgot all save the excitement of the moment. The unruly coterie rolled a giant snowball and let it slide down the hill leading to the town common; they got up into the town hall tower and rang its bell. In the midst of setting loose a drove of cattle from a live stock enclosure they were attracted by the dash and rush of the village fire cart, making for a vivid, spreading glare.

"Why, it's Farmer Logan's place!" shouted a chorus of excited voices, and Norman Hardy's heart stood still. He recalled the cigarette and the littered woodshed. He stood dumb and scared. The flames completely engulfed the great frame barn. Norman slunk off alone by himself, oppressed with an appalling sense of guilt. His emotions were doubly intensified when he heard some one say:

"Logan thinks it was set ablaze, Arson. I pity the firebug if he's caught. It's straight 14 years in the penitentiary."

"It will ruin Logan, they say," spoke another. "The barn was stored with grain and machinery and the insurance ran out last week."

Norman was crushed with a sense of his culpability. He felt like flying from home, town and all the people he had ever known. He skulked behind a hedge as a group of girls they bring their precious animals to one of the little churches to be blessed by the priest, that they may be fruitful and multiply and bring prosperity to their owners throughout the year." The churches are often many miles apart and often the people have to drive their animals a great distance that they may receive this blessing.

NEW YEAR'S PRAYER.
The Old Year has done what it could for me,
All of it that was good for me
Has now become a part of me.
Whatever the New Year may bring to me,
May only the good of it cling to me
And enter into the heart of me.
—W. H. CARRUTH.

came along. They were discussing the fire so excitedly that they paid no attention to a lone member of their group trailing on behind them. Norman noticed her, however. She was Milly Daniels. He started her by stepping directly in her path.

"Just linger for a moment, will you, Milly?" he spoke under high agitation, "or I'll walk with you a bit. I'm in terrible trouble, and I'm going to leave town for good," and Norman related the entire story of the evening.

"There's only one way out, don't you see it, Milly?" he said. "I don't dare to face Farmer Logan; I'm going away the day I have got the money to make it square with Mr. Logan. I'm coming back. And Milly, dear, you have been my truest friend and have always stood by me. Will you try to think of me while I'm gone, will you—will you wait for me? For I shall never love anybody but you."

Five years went by. Not a word had been heard from the truant son. Joel Hardy had forbidden even the mention of his name in the house. Mrs. Hardy, half heartbroken, repined in silence. Milly Daniels became an orphan, and when Mrs. Hardy needed a nurse and then a companion, it came about that she found a permanent home with the mother of the man she loved. She and Mrs. Hardy, with the tyrant father, all unaware of it, cherished a mutual memory of the absent youth and took comfort in watching and hoping for his return.

It was a few minutes after midnight, five years to a day since Norman Hardy had gone forth into the world to seek his fortune. Milly had pleaded to sit up and watch the old year out and the new year in. All three of the family, though in different ways, were thinking of the boy who had run away from home. The bells had just finished a resonant chime when the knob of the outside door turned. There stepped into the room a bronzed, stalwart young man, at a sight of whom Joel Hardy gasped incredulously, his wife uttered a joyous scream, and Milly stood breathless and fluttering.

"I waited till I was sure the final hour of discipline and the strap was past and gone," spoke Norman Hardy. "Mother," a warm embrace. "Father," and a sturdy hand reached out. "Milly," and the young girl swayed to and fro and would have fallen had not Norman caught her.

"I said I wouldn't come back till I could pay for the damage I did to good old Farmer Logan," continued Norman. "I've kept my word. I hear you are struggling with a two-thousand-dollar mortgage, father; I can pay it off and loan you as much more if you need it. Milly, dear, am I welcome? I have come to keep my promise true."

New Year's Lore

NEW YEAR'S night quiet and clear indicates a prosperous year. On New Year's eve while the clock is striking 12 repeat three times: "Good St. Anne, good St. Anne, send me a man as fast as you can," and you will be engaged within the year.

Spend on New Year, spend all the year.

The Chinese say that if a man sits up for ten years in succession and sees the new year come in he will have a long life.

It is unlucky to refuse a beggar anything on New Year's day, or to refuse a request of any kind.

It is lucky to rise early on New Year's morning.

If the first carol singer who comes to the door on New Year's morning is brought in at the front door, taken all through the house, and let out at the back door, it will bring luck to the house for a year.

When the wind blows on New Year's night, it is a sign of pestilence.

If your first caller on New Year's day is a male, you will have good luck and many friends; if a female, bad luck and few friends.

The Chinese think New Year's day is the luckiest of the year.

If you wash clothes on New Year's day, you'll be sure to wash a friend away.

Turn your pillow at midnight of the 31st of December and you will dream of the one you are to marry.

It brings good luck to place a piece of money on the window on New Year's eve.

If the first man you speak to on New Year's morning has his hands in his pockets, you will have a hard time getting what money you want during the year.

It is an old Dutch superstition that if you want to marry the girl you love, your voice must be the first one she hears and your face the first she sees on New Year's morning.

Superstitious folk consider it important to notice whom you meet the first thing on New Year's day. If it is a man, you will have good luck; if a woman, bad luck; if a priest, you will die within a year; if a policeman, you will have litigation.

The first person of the opposite sex you meet on New Year's day will bear the Christian name of your future partner.

If ice melts on January 1 it will freeze on April 1.

Feed the birds well on New Year's morning by placing a sheaf of wheat or barley or some bread outside your house, then good luck will attend you, and good crops and prosperity come to you during the whole year.

On New Year's eve take your hymn-book to your bedroom, blow out the lamp, open your book, and mark a hymn (in the dark), put it under your pillow, and sleep on it. Next morning read the hymn, and it will indicate the events of the year.

It is unlucky to have clothes hanging on the line when the New Year is born.

Cook cabbage on New Year's day and you will have good luck all the year.

Decorated apples stuck on three skewers are exchanged for luck on New Year's day in Great Britain.

Burn all the visiting cards that have been received throughout the year on January 1. If you keep them from year to year you will have bad luck.

If you have not provided yourself with a calendar before the New Year comes in you will be behind hand in all your undertakings during the year.

In Japan oranges are hung up on New Year's day as a charm to insure the long life of the family.

The Chinese believe it bad luck to pay all of outstanding accounts on the last of the year and begin fresh and straight on New Year's day.

Just before midnight on New Year's eve the Chinese put on new or clean garments, so as to enter the new year purely, and thus gain good fortune to themselves.

On New Year's night it was an old Welsh custom with the wise and courageous old men of the parish to sit up all night in the church porch. On that night, it was said, a voice, emanating from beneath the altar table, pronounced the names of those who should die within the coming year.

Your conduct on New Year's day is a forerunner of your conduct all the year.

A NEW YEAR'S GREETING.
Strength shall be given for the task, my dear,
And joy to fill with beauty every hour;
Life, too, shall glow with heightening of power
And through it all a roundelay of cheer.
Of faith and hope will ring out gay and clear
Until it seems your pathway is all flower
And song, and you are rich in dream and power,
Ah, these shall be the gifts of the New Year!

May gladness be your share and sweetest smiles
Of those you love, the wide world's good will, too,
And may new riches quickly come to bless!
Should any sorrows drift across the miles,
May sunshine gloss them o'er with beauty new!
All this I'm asking for your happiness,
—Myrtle Southernland.

The Kitchen Cabinet

Copyright, 1921, Western Newspaper Union.
No man is big enough to do a lot of things and do them well enough to last. When you take him and spread him over a lot of surface, he makes a layer too thin to form any impression. But if you take him and hammer him with the sledge of a mighty purpose, even if there is not more than enough of him to fill a bean-shooter, he will make an impression when he strikes.—D. L. Moody.

A DESSERT FOR EVERY DAY

Here is a dessert for each working day, and on Sunday ice cream and cake or a pie of some kind, which may be prepared on Saturday, may be served. On the busiest day try:

Fifteen-Minute Pudding.—Make a batter, using one cupful of flour, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of baking powder and enough good milk or fresh buttermilk to make a drop batter. Butter custard cups and drop in a teaspoonful of the batter, then add two tablespoonfuls of canned cherries, juice and all. Add another tablespoonful of batter and fill all the cups about half or two-thirds full. Set in a pan, surround with boiling water and cover closely. Boil for fifteen minutes without uncovering. Be sure there is enough water but not enough to boil over into the cups. Serve with cream and sugar.

Lemon Meringue.—Take one pint of milk, three ounces of sugar, one cupful of fine bread crumbs, two eggs, the yolk and rind of a lemon. Mix all ingredients and cook slowly until well set, baking in a deep pie plate. Set away to cool, cover with a meringue and serve cold.

Edinburgh Pudding.—Take one-half pound of oatmeal, one cupful of thick cooked custard flavored with vanilla, one and one-half pints of water, one-quarter of a cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt and two ounces of cornstarch. Cook the oatmeal, salt and water until well cooked. Cool, turn in the custard and pour into molds. Serve when molded, sprinkled with coconut and sugar, with cream.

Snow Jelly.—Make jellies of pineapple, raspberry and lemon. Arrange in layers the lemon, then raspberry and when the pineapple is thickening whip it until frothy, pile this on top of the raspberry jelly. Chill before serving.

Mince, pumpkin or apple pie may be served on a day that the dinner is rather light.

The difference between a precious stone and a common stone is not an essential difference—not a difference of substance, but arrangement of the particles—the crystallization. In substance the coal and the diamond are one, but in form and effect how widely they differ. The pearl contains nothing that is not found in the coarsest oyster shell. Two men have the same thoughts; they use about the same words in expressing them; yet with one the product is real literature, with the other it is a platitude.—John Burroughs.

SEASONABLE IDEAS

Cakes and cookies will be more delicious if they are allowed to age for a while before using.

Spice Cookies.—Cream one-third of a cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar, one well-beaten egg and one cupful of molasses, in which has been dissolved one teaspoonful of soda. Then add three and one-half cupfuls of flour, a little cinnamon, clove and nutmeg and one-half to a whole cupful of chopped raisins. A few chopped nuts make an improvement. When well mixed drop by teaspoonfuls on buttered sheets and sprinkle with sugar.

Dutch Peppernuts.—Mix one and one-quarter pounds of brown sugar with two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon and one tablespoonful of cloves with one teaspoonful of baking powder. Into this stir three eggs and as much flour as it is possible to work in. Roll thin and cut in circles the size of a quarter; bake in a very slow oven. These little cakes will puff up and are delicious. Ice the flat sides. They will keep for months.

Cranberry Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of butter and one and one-half cupfuls of light brown sugar, add the well-beaten yolks of three eggs. Have ready and sifted two cupfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg and one-half teaspoonful of cloves; add to the sugar and butter. Fold in one and one-half cupfuls of cranberries that have been cooked, put through a ricer and sweetened slightly, then the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Bake in two layers and ice, using some of the strained juice of the cranberry for flavor and color.

Honey Doughnuts.—Doughnuts made of honey and sour milk or cream will keep moist a long time. Take two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one and one-half cupfuls of honey, one cupful of sour milk; if sour cream is used take half the butter, one teaspoonful of soda, three cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar. Fry in deep, hot fat.

Nellie Maxwell
Beware Snap Judgment.
Love without distinction, without procrastination. Lavish it upon the poor, where it is easy; especially upon the rich who often need it most; most of all, upon our equals, where it is very difficult, and for whom, perhaps, we can do the least of all.—Exchange.

Japanese Easy to Pronounce.
Japanese is one of the easiest languages of the world to pronounce. Most of the words end in vowels and none of the consonants offers any difficulties.

LOVE and TIME
ACROSS the gardens of Life they go,
A strange, ill-mated pair;
By paths where naught but blossoms blow,
By paths neglected where gaunt weeds grow,
But hand in hand, through joy, through care,
Across the gardens of Life they go.

The one is old, and grim, and gray,
His eyes stare off, like one in dreams;
Across his breast his white locks stray;
The sands in his glass fall day by day;
Over his shoulder his scythe-blade gleams,
And he is old, and grim, and gray.

And one is young, and bright, and fair,
The golden curls about his head
Shine as a halo; his red lips dare
The birds in song; he knows no care,
Joy in his heart is never dead,—
He lives to love and he is fair.

Hoar-headed Time was never young,
And Love on earth can not grow old;
And yet, since first to that hand he clung—
Since first his tender song he sung,
Since first his love-tale he had told,
And to a dart his bow had strung—

Together, through ways of joy, of woe,
Though one is old and one is fair,
By paths where naught but blossoms blow,
By paths neglected where gaunt weeds grow,
Together, a strange, ill-mated pair,
Across the gardens of Life they go.

—Basilio Coronado Lippitt in Indianapolis News.

New Year's Ghost Party

THERE is a pleasant old superstition that jollity in a house during the first week of the New Year brings pleasure and happiness to that household during the entire year. There are many interesting ways of entertaining a New Year's party, but the favorite of all is the masked dance or party, and the most interesting way of having this sort of entertainment is to give a ghost party. The invitations read in this manner:

Our good old Father Time has promised to convene the shades of many notables to meet you New Year's eve. We'll look for you, you know, to help to make things go, and incidentally to meet some ghosts you're sure to know.

There should be 20 or more guests, and after the invitations have gone out, the hostess has a little private chat with her guests over the telephone. She requests them to come dressed to represent some famous person now dead, pantomime, wags, gestures and costume being used to carry out the impersonation.

Dressed in a misty black robe covered with stars cut from gold paper, the hostess will receive her guests in a room draped all in white. Sheets or cheesecloth can be used for this. No word is spoken until a little red imp distributes cards and pencils to the assembled guests. Then each in turn speaks some word or does some stunt to suit his or her character. The person guessing the greatest number correctly receives a pretty copy of the book, "Ghosts I Have Met."

Games, contests and dancing will follow, and the supper or refreshment table will be filled with things tempting enough to attract even the most ghostly appetite. The table decorations should correspond with the festivities of the season. A New Year's pie made of crepe paper over a deep pan is filled with dainty little favors for the guests or cards upon which some funny rhyme is written for each individual guest. Part of the entertainment for the evening may be the telling of fortunes, informing each guest of their fate for the coming year.

Whatever you do, don't let anyone shatter your faith in New Year's resolutions. They are the best things ever. If you know how to handle them, and the most discouraging things if you don't. One clever girl has worked out a plan by which she makes sure—or almost sure—to keep her good resolutions for the year. She has a card upon which she writes and numbers her resolutions. This she keeps where she can see it each morning and each night. It refreshes her memory early in the day and at night she can check up and see how many good resolves she has failed to keep. She says she may become a very old woman, but she will never be too old to make New Year's resolutions.

RESOLUTIONS

Let's all resolve I spend our money at home.

Let's us girls form little clubs and boycott the mop top hair cut.

Let's break up th' practice o' wearin' cloth top shoes with broken arches.

Mothers, keep a closer surveillance on your daughters in 1922.—Abe Martin.

LABRADOR'S NEW YEAR'S EVE.

New Year's eve, away up on the coast of Labrador, is an interesting event. The Moravians celebrate it with an old-fashioned Polterabend, such as the lucky traveler in Germany at December's end comes on. The Christmas trees are brought on sleds or komatiks from far to the south. Then, during the year, from over the world little trinkets have been sent in for merry Yuletide, and these are arranged. The tree in this cold climate keeps well until the New Year's eve and around it, too, that event gathers.

NOT STINGY.

EDITORIAL

RESPECT FOR LAW

In commenting on the Silvas case, the Nogales Democrat had the following to say:

"After the jury was discharged, Judge O'Connor congratulated Attorney Trippel for the defense, upon the excellent argument that he had made and criticized County Attorney Dekiemer.

"In his remarks, which were addressed to the members of the jury, still seated in the jury box, Judge O'Connor said: 'I would not choke a yellow dog on the evidence presented in this trial by the county attorney.'

"Continuing further, Judge O'Connor intimated that as a favor to the tax payers of the county, a change should be made in the office of the county attorney."

It is hard to believe that a judge of the Superior court would make such statements at any time or in any place. It is harder to believe that such statements would be addressed to a jury in open court.

If a county attorney is deserving of criticism, it is bad form for the presiding officer of the court to do the criticizing. There are many reasons why it should not be done. A man who occupies the high position of judge of the Superior court should be a man who is above such petty affairs.

The government of this country has for its foundation the respect of the people for its laws. The lawless element has no respect for any law and one of the objects of our courts is to teach respect of the law to those who recognize no authority.

The Ruby murder case was a difficult one. The testimony was conflicting and few persons who followed the trial believed that there would be a verdict reached. We are not in position to say what preparation for trial was made by the county attorney's office, nor do we know whether better work could have been done by the county attorney, but it appears that the attorney for the defense was complimented on his work because of the poor work done by the county attorney.

If the state's attorney did not present enough evidence 'to choke a yellow dog on' there was no need of a defense being made. The report does not indicate what would have happened to a dog of another color.

It is said that the criticism of the county attorney happened at a time when he was absent from the court room.

FEED OUR OWN FIRST

One of those striking contrasts that we love to talk about was shown in the columns of the El Paso Times of last Friday, when a story under a Washington date line told of the action of the foreign affairs committee of the house of representatives in reporting favorably the bill appropriating $20,000,000 for the relief of the starving Russians, a bill, by the way, that has since been passed by the house.

ican Federation of Labor endorsed it, and two other public men, just back from a trip to Russia, were strong for its passage and for spending the money to save the Russians.

The contrast was afforded by an editorial in the Times, in which it was brought out that some El Paso school children are going to school every day without any breakfast and that the school authorities are to institute one penny lunches to relieve this condition.

It is a fine and noble thing to relieve suffering anywhere, but with so many underfed babies right at home, and with millions of men out of work, many of them through no fault of their own, it would seem that the expenditure of twenty millions on Russians or any other foreign race is, to put it as mildly as possible, a sad misapplication of funds.

When we have set our own house in order and have relieved the suffering that is so prevalent among our own people, it will be time enough to go outside and spend our millions on people who have no claim on us.—Deming Headlight.

It is a fine and noble thing to relieve suffering anywhere, but with so many underfed babies right at home, and with millions of men out of work, many of them through no fault of their own, it would seem that the expenditure of twenty millions on Russians or any other foreign race is, to put it as mildly as possible, a sad misapplication of funds.

DIP REPORT ALL WRONG

The report that has been circulating around this section for several weeks concerning the Patagonia river crossing has been corrected by the men who have charge of the road work.

It has been said that a dip instead of a bridge would be constructed across the Sonoita river at this point. This is denied by the members of the highway commission. The money for the construction of a bridge was raised by a road bond issue voted for by the majority of the people, and the funds cannot be used for any other purpose.

It has been said that the rumor probably started when a statement was made some time ago that one of the officials in charge of road work favored a dip at the crossing here. This gentleman is now in favor of the bridge and has been for quite a while, according to reports.

In discussing the crossing matter nothing vicious has been said. The people of this district wanted a bridge and were deeply interested in its construction. When the report was once started it spread rapidly and was the subject of many discussions.

The interest shown in this matter is proof that the people of the Patagonia territory are wide awake when it comes to getting the things that they are justly entitled to.

We have not been informed as to the date when actual work of building the bridge will begin.

THE NEW YEAR

We will soon have with us the new year. The people everywhere are sincerely hoping that it will be a Happy New Year. Of course, there is room for improvement on the year that is just now coming to a close, but, everything considered, it has not been so bad as it might have been.

Take your own case, for instance, you have had pretty hard 'pickin'' but you are still alive while thousands have died of pestilence and starvation. You have lost money, but the chances are that it was your own fault. You will not make the same mistakes next year that you made this year.

The signs are getting right for an improvement in the industrial situation. Nineteen twenty-two is going to be a better year than 1921. We might give you some facts to back up the statement but you would not believe us. You have heard better times preached from every corner and you are tired of propaganda. You are looking for action. The best and the quickest way to see that action is to help start it yourself.

PHOENIX BANKER IS ARRESTED ON A FIFTH CHARGE

PHOENIX, Dec. 29.—P. K. Lewis, former president of the Central Bank of Wickenburg and of the Central Finance corporation, who now is at liberty under bonds of $10,000 on four grand jury indictments, was arrested on a fifth charge last night. The new charge alleges Lewis obtained money by false pretenses.

The warrant was issued on a complaint filed by County Attorney R. E. L. Shepherd in the court of Justice of the Peace Nat T. McKee and Lewis will appear before Justice McKee for arraignment today. He was not put in jail on the new charge.

The complaint charges that Lewis while acting as president and agent of the Central Finance corporation, sold ten bonds of that corporation to Louis J. Hart, a local attorney, for $10,000 on December 18, 1919. It alleges that Lewis represented the bonds to Hart as a good and safe investment. Lewis, the complaint alleges, knew at that time that the bonds were worthless and of no value.

Indictments which Lewis filed in the superior court to the grand jury indictments, two of which charge him with embezzlement, one with receiving deposits in an insolvent bank while an officer of the bank, and the other charge him and Harry S. Ross, former state treasurer, jointly with conspiracy, were argued before Judge R. C. Stanford yesterday.

ONLY 5,500 MEN OUT OF WORK IN STATE SAYS MILNES REPORT

PHOENIX, Dec. 29.—An unemployment survey of the state has just been completed by the Arizona immigration commission, P. R. Milnes, made at the request of Governor Campbell, of whom the information was asked by Secretary of Commerce and Labor Herbert Hoover. It will be recalled that the Washington unemployment congress, called by President Harding, delegated to Mr. Hoover the not inconsiderable task of devising ways and means of furnishing labor to the millions in the United States without it.

In turn the latter asked the governors to advise him as to conditions in the various states so he might have information on which to formulate an intelligent plan and one broad enough in scope to meet the unemployment situation.

Although the economic situation, on account of the paralyzation of copper, cotton and cattle, the major industries of Arizona is far from what is to be desired, it is much better than in the majority of states. The report, which holds out the hope of a change in conditions the early part of next year, shows the number of unemployed in each county, public works in progress, and number of people to whom charitable aid is being given.

Accompanying his report, Milnes sent the following letter to the governor: Sir:—

Based on data received from every county in the state, but not as complete as desired, the result of the labor survey, made by this office at your request, shows that there are approximately 5,500 men out of employment in Arizona at the present time. Although figures are also incomplete as to nationality, it is safe to assume that half of the number are Mexicans. The information secured and on which this report is predicated was in response to a questionnaire, couched in the following language and sent to clerks of the boards of supervisors of the fourteen counties, mayors of the cities of Final county, for its size, seems to be in the worst shape, from an unemployment standpoint than any of the counties. Cochise comes next and Gila is a close third. In fact there appear to be more people in Gila suffering from the depression than any other section of the state, but the number of men without work is in the order stated. The reason is that there are more dependents affected in Gila than in the other counties. Yavapai, on the other hand, although a mining county, has evidently been but little adversely affected. Present, particularly has maintained the ever tenor of its way, doubtless due to the construction program in progress at U. S. General Hospital No. 29 at Fort Whipple where extensive building operations are in progress, to be followed later on by an additional building program.

In Jerome the unemployed aggregate 100, which is less than could be expected with the two big copper companies, the United Verde and the United Verde Extension, and their smelters non-productive and non-operating for several months. The mines and smelters there, I am reliably advised, will resume during next February.

The report in dealing with Santa Cruz county, reads as follows:

Santa Cruz county: Number of unemployed estimated (so small as to be negligible) 50; public work, charity employed on road work, 150; number of persons to whom aid is being given, public or private, 14.

"Sincerely yours, P. R. Milnes, Arizona Immigration Commissioner."

The largest groups of unemployed are found in the so-called mining counties, where the cessation of operations in that industry has thrown a large number of men out of work. Those who were in a position financially so to do, naturally sought new fields of endeavor, thus materially reducing the populations of the mining centers, but others not so fortunately situated, were compelled to remain and await a turn for the better.

S. P. FREIGHT RATES TO BE CUT ON JAN. 1

TUCSON, Dec. 20—The ten per cent reduction in freight rates on farm products, other than grain, grain products and hay, recently announced by the Southern Pacific company will become effective January 1, 1923, on both state and interstate traffic without exception as to territory.

The reduction will apply on the following commodities in carload quantities: Butter, cheese, eggs, poultry, wool and mohair, cotton and cotton linters, cotton seed, tobacco (manufactured), fruits, fresh or green and not including canned or preserved fruit; dried or evaporated fruit other than candied, crystallized, glazed or stuffed fruit, fresh and green vegetables but not including canned or preserved vegetables; dried and evaporated vegetables.

These rates are granted for an experimental period of six months, expiring June 30, 1923, with the hope that in the meantime operating expenses as represented by labor costs will be reduced so that the rates can be continued.

The reduction will not apply on any rates that have been reduced by the carriers ten per cent or more since the rates were advanced August 26, 1920.

Owing to complications that have arisen in connection with the question of rates on grain and grain products it will be impossible to make the reductions on these commodities effective on January 1, but by exerting every effort the Southern Pacific company will put the reduced grain and grain products in effect not later than January 7.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—Former President Wilson was deluged with telegrams from all over the world on the celebration of the sixty-fifth birthday at his home yesterday.

Several of the more intimate friends of Mr. Wilson called at his home to extend their greeting.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Heil's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. GOLDEN STATE SEEKS ARIZONA'S GOATS - WANT 10,000

PRESCOTT, Dec. 29—Of special interest to goat raisers in this county should be the communication received at the local forest office from Supervisor Charlton of the Angeles forest in California, with headquarters in Los Angeles, who writes stating that he wants 100,000 additional goats to graze on the brush covered areas of the Angeles forest.

Her applications for permits to graze more goat herds. It would be better for all of us were the herders to take their animals to the California forest.

The Angeles forest has a large acreage that is heavy with browse and brush. Goats, when pastured or grazed over this land, eat off much of the underbrush and so reduce the fire hazard. Already there are several herds of goats on the Angeles forest and Supervisor Charlton states the owners are well satisfied with their condition.

"Conditions on the California forest are different than on the Prescott," said Supervisor H. Basil Wales, "and already the Prescott forest is well utilized by the cattle. On account of the watershed conditions, it would be much better that we have no goats on our forest. Only one band now is on the forest, but I have received a number of fresh shipments of Oysters received regularly at Barnett & Barnett's."

"LET PROBE BY GRAND JURY COME" SAYS D'RIEMER

The Herald County Attorney A. H. DeRiemer welcomes a session of the county grand jury, which, it is said, will be called in January by Superior Court Judge W. A. O'Connor.

"Let 'er come, I am glad to see it" was the statement made by the district attorney this afternoon. "I welcome a grand jury investigation which should probe all the county offices" said Mr. DeRiemer.

"Taking into consideration the time that the republicans have been in office in this county, an investigation of their offices, I am sure, will compare favorably with an investigation of others."

"I believe that an investigation of the three republican offices—those of county attorney, recorder and the sheriff's office—will compare favorably with an investigation of the democratic offices, namely those of surveyor, treasurer, assessor, judge of the superior court, and county physician."

"After a case has been lost in court, it doesn't take a lawyer to tell how it could have been improved."

"I believe it will take something more serious for the grand jury to consider, than the failure to secure conviction in a murder case, to unseat the county attorney who was elected by a large majority by the people."

"No grand jury was called when County Attorney Leslie Hardy failed to convict William H. Cushmanberry, about two years ago, nor was any grand jury called when E. R. Purdum, city attorney, and John Wright, failed to win the civil case against W. H. Smith."

Jury May Meet in January
The county attorney's statement was made as a result of the report that Judge O'Connor would call the county grand jury in session in January, and other reports that the session would probe the county attorney's office and the office of sheriff.

Judge O'Connor was asked last night whether it was true that he would call a session of the grand jury and replied as follows: "It is likely that a grand jury session will be called about the middle of January. When the time comes, I will instruct them what they are to consider, and the grand jury will investigate whatever they think should be investigated."

Upon his withdrawal from office he was at once sought out by those charged with crime. Much to his disgust, the first two cases that he defended resulted in the conviction of his clients.

This is all due to the heavy rainfall which has occurred along the coast the past week, which was over 7.12 inches at Los Angeles and over 9 inches at San Diego. All persons intending traveling to the coast are advised by the club to consult one of its representatives before starting, as they will keep in touch with the conditions of all roads and will be able to inform them as soon as they are safe and comfortable for travel.

BE YOURSELF AGAIN PE-RU-NA Will Help You The chances are that you are suffering from catarrhal poisons which have gone all over your system resulting in loss of weight, strength, nerve force and ambition. Systemic catarrh acts that way. The poisons have accumulated faster than the organs of elimination could throw them off, the human machinery has become clogged to the point of breaking down and the general health collapses. There is in every such case a stagnation of the mucous surfaces preventing normal action of one or more of the vital organs. What is needed is a remedy of tonic properties that will invigorate the whole body by restoring the digestion and cleaning up the stagnation. For fifty years Dr. Hartman's Pe-ru-na has been performing just that service for millions. Designed especially for all forms of catarrh and catarrhal poisoning the action of Pe-ru-na is very direct and satisfying as is testified by many, many users. The great success of Pe-ru-na in such cases makes it worthy of your trial. SEND FOUR CENTS FOR BOOK ON CATARRH. For Sale Everywhere THE PE-RU-NA COMPANY COLUMBUS, OHIO U. S. A. TABLETS OR LIQUID
