

Treasures in Tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen of Egypt

London Times—New York Times copyright by arrangement with the Earl of Carnarvon

Opening of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, the "heretic" king of the Eighteenth Egyptian dynasty, at Luxor, has revealed an unexampled storehouse of treasures. This photograph gives a view of the antechamber looking west. Among the articles shown are a box containing the king's undergarments and other things; a large gilt couch with supports in the form of lions; a couch with supports in the form of "hat-hor" cows; numerous boxes containing mummified meat; a painted red box containing jewelry and ornaments; a papyrus rush-work stool, much decayed; the king's stool; another couch; four alabaster unguent vases of unique type and beauty; a semi-circular veneered box having minute detail of Inlaid Ivory.

HIS FUNERAL FLOWERS

MEAT CONSUMPTION SETS NEW RECORD

Washington.—More meat was consumed in the United States last year than in any previous year, the Department of Agriculture announced here recently. The total consumption was estimated at 10,333,000,000 pounds, which amounts to 130.7 pounds per person, applying the July 1, 1922, estimate of population. The per capita consumption showed an increase of six pounds over 1921 and 6 1/2 pounds over 1920.

"Coupled with the decrease in the exports and somewhat higher prices to purchasers in 1922," the department report said, "these figures evidence a satisfactory state of the home market and doubtless to the prosperous condition and better purchasing power of the people generally."

The average meat bill per person in 1922, according to the estimates, was made up of 61.4 pounds of beef, 7.3 pounds of veal, 5 pounds of mutton and lamb and 70 pounds of pork. All classes of meat except mutton and lamb showed increased consumption. The largest increase was in beef, 3.8 pounds per person, while the increased consumption of pork was only slightly less, 3.1 pounds per capita. Lamb and mutton decreased 1.2 pounds per capita.

The conversion of corn into lard by means of the hog is one of the major industries of the country, the product of which goes to all parts of the world, the department announced. The 67,050,745 hogs slaughtered in 1922 yielded more than 6,000,000,000 pounds of meat and 2,537,000,000 pounds of lard. This is the highest production of lard in record, and as the exports, although considerable, were less than in 1921, it follows that the total consumption also was highest. The per capita consumption, however, was exceeded in 1910.

Cause of Hospital Fire Determined.
New York.—Spontaneous combustion was advanced as the cause of the disastrous fire which killed twenty-seven patients and nurses at the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane on Ward's Island, recently. Testimony that defective wiring could not have caused the fire was given at the inquiry presided by Medical Examiner Norris, while Acting Mayor Hubert was in Albany conferring with Governor Smith on steps to protect other institutions in this city against fire menace.

New Legal Code for Aircraft

Washington.—A new legal code governing use of air craft and balloons in time of war has been completed by the international commission of jurists appointed under the Washington conference to revise the rules of warfare, it was announced at the State Department recently.

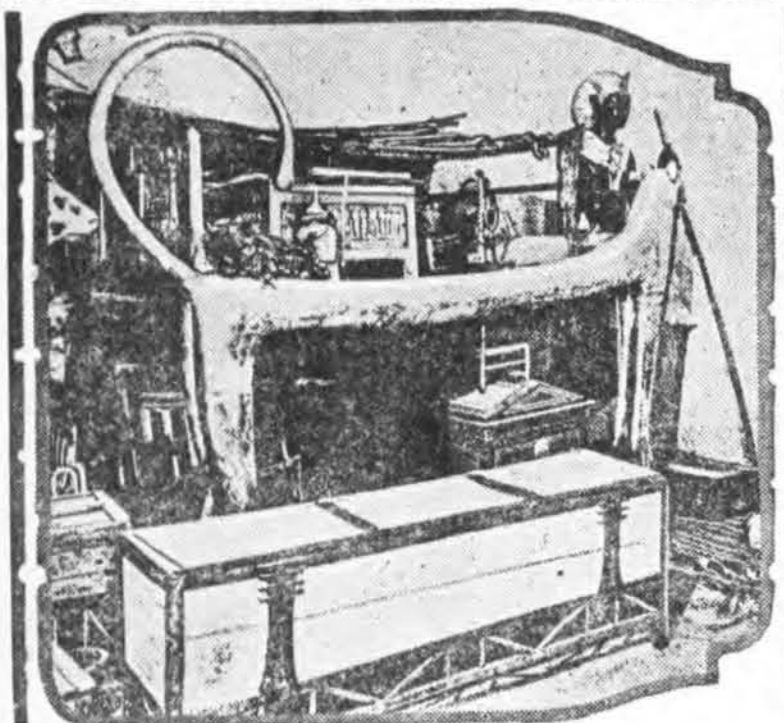

In reporting the agreement reached at The Hague, John Bassett Moore, the American representative, said the task was completed and a final report signed.

Voliva Guilty of Criminal Libel

Chicago.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva was found guilty by a jury here on a charge of criminal libel. The action was brought by the Rev. Thomas Nelson, pastor of an "Independent" church in Zion City. He charged Voliva with publishing a pamphlet, in which the overseer referred to him as a "blather-skite," "tom fool," and "billy goat."

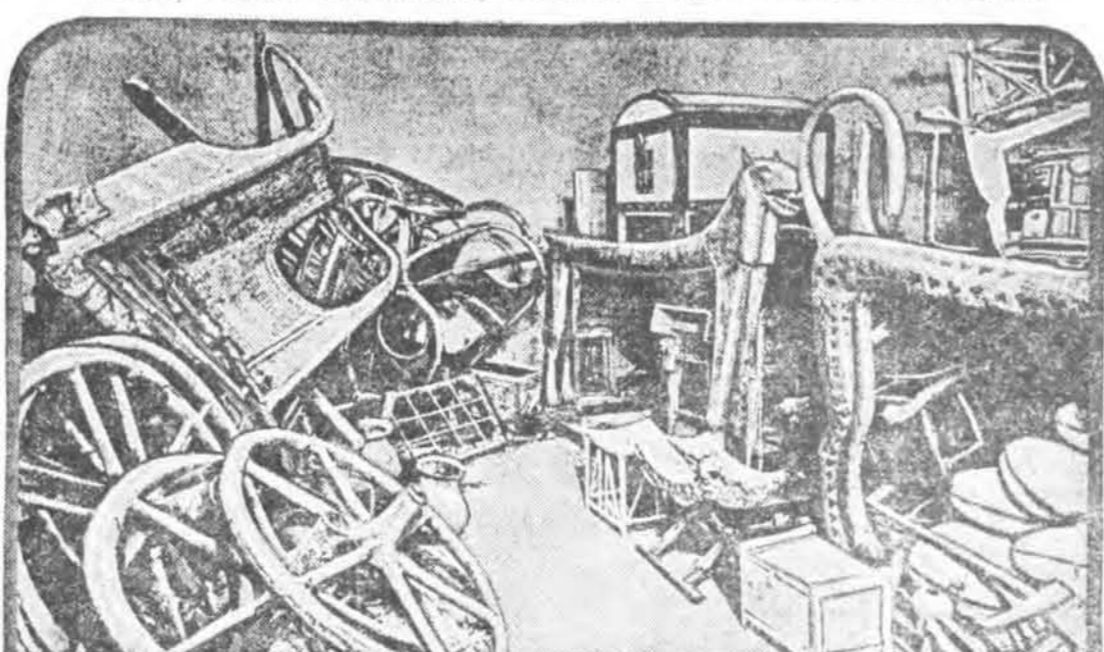

A. V. Smith, state's attorney, prosecuting the case, argued that Voliva's action was an attempt to limit religious liberty.

Box of Tut-Ankh-Amen's Underwear

Alabaster Vases in King Tut's Tomb

London Times—New York Times copyright by arrangement with the Earl of Carnarvon
Cluster of alabaster unguent vases of unique type, just as they were discovered in the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, the ancient Egyptian king, when it was opened. The vases still contain unguents which give off a faint odor.

Statues of King Guarding Doorway of Sepulcher

London Times—New York Times copyright by arrangement with the Earl of Carnarvon
For more than three thousand years the wooden statues of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, seen in this photograph, stood undisturbed at the sealed doorway of his sepulcher in his tomb at Luxor, Egypt. In this antechamber are to be seen also the funeral flowers, a painted chest containing the royal robes and jewels, a long box containing the king's underwear and weapons, a ceremonial couch and many other objects.

King Tut-Ankh-Amen reigned in Egypt at least 3,250 years ago, and some authorities claim as far back as the days of Moses, and that it was his armies that were engulfed in the Red sea when pursuing the Children of Israel. At least his reign was as far back as that of Saul, first king of Israel.
