

Waterfront of Yokohama Wrecked by Tidal Waves

While Yokohama, chief seaport of Japan, was being destroyed by temblors and flames, its famous water front was being swept by enormous tidal waves that left it a chaotic ruin.

This Was Once the Thriving Town of Ito

This expanse of tangled wreckage was all that was left of Ito, a busy town in Idzu prefecture, after the earthquake and fire had done their work.

POULTRY

Avoid Overcrowding of Chicken House in Fall

Overcrowding of poultry houses, which generally means overheating, and is likely to cause colds and finally roup, is strongly deprecated by poultrymen of University Farm, A. C. Smith, in charge of the division of poultry husbandry, says: "Because of the noticeable change in living conditions—from colony coops and free range to the poultry house and confinement—the young birds are timid and group themselves together in corners against the walls and partitions on the floors and roosting platforms. The birds become too warm while so closely grouped and, consequently, chill easily when they separate. To correct this habit, house only a few birds at a time. When these few become sufficiently accustomed to their quarters to take to the roost, house more birds, as those first in the winter shelter will act as teachers to those that follow.

"Until early winter sets in give all the air possible from one direction and do not subject the birds to a draft. In short, make the changes between the range and the winter quarters as gradual as possible. Provide a light loose litter of straw or leaves in which the fowls can get the exercise necessary to maintain health. Succulent food must be supplied as the birds are cut off from the green food of the range."

Cut Bone Necessary to Provide Balanced Ration

One pound of cut bone for a dozen hens every day is just about right. On farms the cost for bones should be little or nothing, yet some folks think it does not pay to procure a bone cutter. This is a mistake. Bone cutters are now cheaper than many ordinary garden tools and are strong, durable and efficient. The cost of the cutter is an investment soon returned by the increased number of eggs laid. It is almost indispensable in providing fowls with a balanced ration. The regular use of bone also effects a great saving in the quantity of grain feeds necessary for the flock.

Chickens Self-Feeders When Given Free Range

Chickens will "pick up" a good part of their living from waste that otherwise would never become of any value. They will feed themselves, to an extent, from grass, weeds, insects and crumbs, and small scraps, that if not eaten by chickens, would not become of food value to man. They will eat the eggs and larvae from which come various destructive insects, particularly orchard pests. In some orchards where chickens range, the brown-tail moth has almost disappeared, while nearby orchards, where chickens do not run, are damaged by the pest.

Guinea Fowl Does Well With Little Attention

Guinea fowl might well be bred in the United States more extensively, either along with other poultry or in larger numbers by themselves. The varieties have been improved in recent years and there is reason to believe that the improvement will continue and breeding them will become an increasingly important branch of the poultry industry. The birds do well on comparatively little food in addition to what they will gather if allowed to range.

Egg Production Depends Greatly Upon Protein

Egg production depends more upon the amount and kind of protein eaten than upon any other food. Hens are naturally grain eaters and will do well on almost any grain mixture if they have milk or meat scrap to go with it. By holding most of the whole grain until the night feeding, you keep the hens hungry and thus force them to exercise and eat the more concentrated protein feed through the day.

POULTRY NOTES

Do not handle the chicks by any natural restrictions. Let them hustle.

Keep all young poultry thrifty and growing. The profitable fowl is not the sick one made well, but the healthy one kept healthy.

Lousy fowls will not lay, and will require much more feed to keep in good condition than those free from the pests.

Hens like a dark nest for laying in. If a covered nest is used, it is well to have it face the wall, and to have a slanting cover, to prevent roosting.

Always keep in mind that the constitutional strength and vigor of the flock must be kept up to a certain standard that the fowls may have the necessary power of disease resistance.

PEASANTS MARCH TO ATTACK SOFIA

EFFORTS MADE TO OVERTHROW GOVERNMENT OF KING BORIS

CIVIL WAR STARTED

BULGARIAN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES HAS BEEN DISSOLVED BY MAJESTY'S ORDER

Paris.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Sofia says the present insurrection in Bulgaria is spreading and gathering strength. One hundred thousand peasants, a majority of whom are armed and fairly well organized, are marching on Sofia in an attempt to overthrow the government.

Two regiments have been dispatched against the oncoming peasants, who are reported to have halted in the face of rifle fire.

Bulgarian towns along the Jugo-Slav frontier are showing special activities. Although it is asserted in Sofia that the movement is purely agrarian, the communists have taken a hand in the controversy and are directing a general strike.

Another Havas dispatch from Sofia says the Bulgarian chamber of deputies was dissolved by royal decree.

The dispatch adds that the date of the elections had not been fixed, but under the constitution, these would take place within two months of the dissolution of the chamber.

London.—A Reuter dispatch from Sofia says that aside from recent communistic uprising at Nova Zagora and Tahrizan, in which seventy communists either were killed or wounded, there have been no disturbances in Bulgaria.

The communists near the town of Kazanlik, the dispatch adds, attempted to proclaim a soviet republic, but government troops quelled the movement. Although the government appears to have the revolutionary movement well under control, the inter-allied military control commission has decided to allow the Bulgarian authorities the right to organize a temporary civil militia in the event of further outbreaks.

Sofia, Bulgaria.—The Communists on Sept. 29 attempted to proclaim sovietism in certain districts in southern Bulgaria. Three hundred communists attacked the barracks in Siga Zagorax, but were dispersed, leaving five dead and ten wounded. About 200 assaulted Tahrizan. The attack failed, the assailants retreating. They removed rails from the railroad line, derailing passenger trains, but there were no casualties.

Genarmaric, pursuing these Communists, killed or wounded thirty men. Three hundred Communists attacked the sub-prefecture and city hall at Nova Zagora and proclaimed a Soviet republic, which lasted fifteen hours. The garrison at Yambol sent troops which dislodged the revolutionists. During the pursuit the communists lost thirty-four men killed. A majority of the others were made prisoners. Many submitted voluntarily and delivered up their arms. The government troops lost two men killed and eight wounded.

France Demands German Surrender

Berlin.—Only unconditional surrender by Germany will satisfy the French reparations demands the French Ambassador M. Demaroger has informed the German government. Belgium is giving the French demands full support. France notified Germany that she would not make a single concession, but is remaining firm upon her original reparations policy.

$40,000 Oil Fire in Texas

Corsicana, Texas.—The oil fire in the Corsicana Deep field, on the S. D. Ramsey eleven-acre lease of the E. L. Smith Oil Company, caused an estimated damage of $40,000. About 40,000 barrels of oil, twelve 1,000-barrel storage tanks and three 500-barrel flow tanks, two derricks, two standing rigs and a quantity of derrick tools, were destroyed. Origin of the fire is undetermined.

Swiss Smuggling Drugs to U. S.

Geneva.—The charge that great quantities of harmful drugs are being manufactured in Switzerland and clandestinely imported to the United States and Canada caused a stir during a recent session by the League of Nations opium commission, which decided to recommend an international conference for promotion of the fight against opium.

Courts May Intervene in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City.—A test in the United States courts of his authority to prohibit the convening of an extraordinary session of the Oklahoma House of Representatives will be welcome, Gov. J. C. Walton declared. "I want to place the issue of the Ku Klux Klan before federal authorities, and an injunction action against me will be the most direct method of bringing this about," he asserted. Governor Walton said that the Ku Klux Klan is bound to be an issue in the next national election.

Engineer Reveals the Real Facts About Case

"Since taking Tanlac I enjoy eating like I hadn't been able to do in years, and have also gained thirteen pounds in weight," said Frank M. Moore, 1204 Water St., Pueblo, Colorado, well-known retired locomotive engineer. "For five years or more I had indigestion so bad I couldn't eat anything without having sharp pains in my stomach and around my heart and smothering spells when it seemed as if I wouldn't be able to get my breath at all. I suffered from constipation, couldn't sleep well, and felt so tired and worn out I was despondent and had very little interest in anything. "Well, my nerves are as steady now as they were twenty years ago, and I sleep like a baby and feel cheerful all the time. My appetite is fine and I eat anything I want without suffering afterwards. I took the Tanlac Vegetable Pills along with Tanlac, and I never hesitate to recommend the two to anyone suffering from stomach trouble and constipation. They're great."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

Foolish Advice.
The fussy dentist was examining the teeth of the patient, and assumed an air of great wisdom. "Do you ever clean your teeth?" he inquired, as he pried and probed. "Yes," replied the patient. "How many times a day?" pursued the dentist. "Twice," was the answer. "Have you had my advice before with regard to your teeth?" "Yes, I called on a doctor last night. "And what foolish advice did he give you?" "He told me to come to you!"

OLD CUSTOMS SEEM CURIOUS

Common Plates and Cups Were Once Shared—Fought for the Biggest Share.

Noble families in England in the Middle Ages shared common plates and cups, used fingers instead of forks, licked their plates, wiped their teeth on the tablecloth, and scrambled for the largest portion, says the Detroit News. Books on etiquette issued in the fifteenth century pointed out that these things were not good manners. The art of cooking in the Middle Ages flourished, however, cooks excelling at artistic and rich cookery.

Dancing in medieval times was true to its name. Dancers really moved with staidness and agility instead of slowly posturing round the room in the manner of modern dancers. The noble and his family and servants lived and slept in the great hall of the castle, with next to no privacy. A better state of things evolved gradually, more rooms being added and more windows put in, insuring greater seclusion for the lord and his family.

After Thirty Years.
Magistrate—After thirty years as a husband—do you say that your married life is a failure?
Husband (guardedly)—Well, to tell you the truth, I do not remember any other kind of life.

Applause.
"I notice that you have the word 'applause' parenthetically introduced through your speeches."
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "We can't always depend on hearing the applause, but we can at least be sure people will read it."

So Unconventional.
"How do you like your job as telephone operator?"
"Oh, it is all right."
"But doesn't it embarrass you to take rings from strange men?"—London Times.

Dazed by Their Terrible Tragedy

Tokyo refugees wandering aimlessly along a road outside the destroyed city, showing in faces and attitudes the hopeless agony that was felt by the victims of the fearful disaster.

HOW THE EARTH YAWNED

This was a stretch of the excellent motor highway between Tokyo and Yokohama. Then came the earthquake, and the solid ground was broken into gaping chasms often many feet deep. In Yokohama and else where the surface of the ground suddenly sank at least three feet; the faces of mountains were split with great cracks; islands, like the beautiful Oshima, sank below the surface of the water, and other islands were thrust upward from the depths.

American phonographs are very popular in Indian huts in Yuchuan.

HURTING THE FARMER
The politicians who pose as the alleged friends of the farmer talk too much and their declarations that he is bankrupt hurt his credit.

The market for farm mortgage loans is likely to be affected by the reports from Farm Bureau leaders, who claim that the farmers are making no money and are facing bankruptcy.

A SILVER POLICY
The future market for silver is dependent on just two things—the same two things that all markets are dependent upon—demand and supply.

Will Campbell, flying British colors, sets the record's speed record at 140 miles per hour. He drove a 250 horsepower car.
There are about 265,000 miles of railroad in the United States as against approximately 400,000 miles of highway.

OVERPRODUCTION OF OIL
Old law of supply and demand is getting in its deadly work on prices of crude oil along the overproduction line.

There is no cry that there should be legislation to prevent the ruin of the oil producers as is demanded in the case of wheat growers.

All Cut Up.
'I have been up and down the world a great deal,' observed a knowing young man in a certain southern town.

HIAWATHA KNOWN TO INDIANS

In the Legends of the East He is Called Glooskap and His Deeds Are Recorded.

In the East Hiawatha is known as Glooskap, god of the Passamaquoddyes. According to traditions there he lived on the rocky height of Blomidon, at the entrance to Minas Basin, Nova Scotia, and the agates to be found along its foot are jewels that he made for his grandmother's necklace, when he restored her to youth. He threw up a ridge between Fort Cumberland and Parrsboro, Nova Scotia, that he might cross, dry shod, the lake made by the beavers when they dammed the strait at Blomidon, but he afterwards killed the beavers, and breaking down their dam he let the lake flow into the sea, and went southward on a hunting tour.

Mount Kineo was anciently a cow moose of colossal size that Hiawatha slew and turned into a height of land. Little Kineo was a calf moose that he slew at the same time, and Kettle mountain is his camp cauldron that he flung to the ground in the order of the chase. At Mount Desert he killed a moose, whose bones he flung to the ground at Bar Harbor, where they are still to be seen, turned to stone, while across the bay he threw the entrails, and they, too, are visible as rocks, dented with his arrow points.

"Dexterity" of Marc Antony.

It would be very tedious and trifling to recount all his (Antony's) follies, but his fishing must not be forgot. He went out one day to angle with Cleopatra, and being so unfortunate as to catch nothing in the presence of his mistress, he was very much vexed, and gave secret orders to the fishermen to dive under water and put fishes that had been fresh taken upon his hook. After he had drawn up two or three, Cleopatra perceived the trick; she pretended, however, to be surprised at his good fortune and dexterity; told it to all her friends, and invited them to come and see him fish the next day. Accordingly, a very large company went out in the fishing vessels, and as soon as Antony had let down his line she commanded one of her servants to be beforehand with Antony's, and diving into the water, to fix upon his hook a salted fish, one of those which were brought from the Euxine sea.—Plutarch.

Sensational Doings in Governor Walton's War on the Klan in Oklahoma.

STATE UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

Legislature Plans to Hold Extra Session—Spain Now Ruled by Dictator and Directorate—Baldwin and Poincare Confer—Berkeley, Cal., Is Swept by Flames.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
OKLAHOMA has become the center of the war against the Ku Klux Klan. Developments there last week were sensational, and the future is looked to not without some apprehension. Enraged by more of the foggings which are reasonably supposed to be committed or incited by the Klan, Gov. J. C. Walton announced that a state of insurrection and rebellion against the laws and constituted authorities of the state existed, and therefore he proclaimed martial law for the entire state and ordered absolute martial law for Oklahoma City, Oklahoma county and Creek county. Units of the National Guard were called out and a military commission set up and began the examination and trial of civilians—a thing that has not been seen in the United States for many years.

An order was issued prohibiting "all public meetings, publications, literature and verbal expressions tending to create opposition to the enforcement of martial law in Oklahoma county," and consequently the newspapers there have been cautious. However, the publishers of several of the largest dailies in the state have signed and many of the papers have printed an address to the people of the United States declaring that "the supreme issue in Oklahoma today is constitutional government or despotism," and asserting that "Governor Walton, by his acts, has attempted to nullify rights guaranteed under our Constitution, and to halt the lawful processes of republican government."

In another address the editors urged the members of the legislature to meet immediately, and this is what a large number of the legislators have been planning to do. Walton says he will not permit it, and is quoted as declaring that if the lawmakers assemble he will build a stockade and put them in it. Notwithstanding the threat, almost a majority of the members of the lower house have signed and issued a call for a special session for the purpose of investigating charges against the governor of "repeated injuries, usurpations and blunders, evidencing the direct object of establishing an absolute tyranny and despotism over the commonwealth."

Walton has strong political support, made up of Farmer-Laborites, radical Democrats and a kind of Nonpartisan league, but some of these, especially the Laborites, do not take kindly to martial law. The "invisible empire" men are not openly combating the governor's methods, but are working under cover with great energy, and it is believed that in a measure they can control a special session of the legislature. Their fiery crosses continued to blaze over certain buildings in Oklahoma City until Thursday, when Walton ordered them struck down.

Walton, if he reads the news from Europe, may seek to emulate Benito Mussolini and Gen. Primo Rivera, but if so he will have to learn that there is a vast difference between the conditions and peoples in Italy and Spain and those in the United States. No dictatorships are necessary or desired in any of our commonwealths.

SO FAR, the coup d'etat of the military aristocracy of Spain is altogether successful. King Alfonso, yielding perforce to the revolutionists, created a national directorate and made Primo Rivera its president with virtually dictatorial powers. The positions of premier and cabinet ministers were suppressed. The new government announced its five principal objectives as follows:

- First, to exterminate syndicalism and other communist doctrines;
- Second, to crush the separatist movement in Catalonia and Basque provinces;
- Third, to prosecute a victorious campaign in the Spanish zone in Morocco;
- Fourth, to establish an honest, efficient government;
- Fifth, to make guilty politicians as well as officers suffer for the big Melilla defeat.

Rivera called on the country to form a "Gran Somaten" or militia patterned closely after the Italian Fascisti, to number 450,000. With this organization, responsible to him alone, he proposes to protect the "established interests" of Spain. The International Communists who have been flourishing in Barcelona and other Spanish cities since the Russian agents began active work there in 1918, have realized that the game is up for the present at least, and have been fleeing from the country. Many of their leaders were caught and locked up last week. In pursuance of the plan for a vigorous campaign against the Moorish rebels the Spanish fleet on Wednesday began to bombard the hills above Alhucemas bay with gas shells, to clear the way for the landing of a large expeditionary force. General Alzupura, the new commander in chief in Morocco, started to organize an offensive on the western flank.

The Spaniards feel it necessary to demonstrate their ability to govern the Morocco zone at once, because in a few days the Tangier conference in London will open, when Spain will demand permission to rule the Tangier zone. The United States is interested in that conference and has notified Great Britain, France and Spain that it will not accept any settlement of the future control of Tangier which hinders the establishment there of American marine coaling and oiling bases. An interesting story from Madrid says the old Spanish government was conducting negotiations with England by which Gibraltar was to be traded by Great Britain for the valuable harbors of Tangier, Ceuta and Melilla and that news of this reached the military leaders of Spain and hastened the revolt.

TO COMPLETE the record of the dictators, it may be said that Premier Mussolini of Italy is "sitting pretty" in his disputes and negotiations with Greece, Jugo-Slavia and the League of Nations. The Greek government has paid the "moral reparations" for the Janina murders by apologizing for them, saluting the flags of Italy, France and England, and attending a solemn requiem mass in the Catholic cathedral of Athens for the slain Italian officers. Diplomatic negotiations with the Serbs concerning Fiume are said to be progressing amicably, but the government of that so-called independent state resigned the other day and Mussolini promptly appointed General Giardini, third in command of the Italian army, as military governor. He gave assurance that this did not affect the status of Fiume, but it served to increase the fear that he meant to annex that city. In the sessions of the League of Nations there were further harsh criticisms of the league's inaction in the matter of the occupation of Corfu, especially by Hjalmar Branting. In reply the Italian delegate, Signor Salandra, defended the seizure of the island and expressed the hope that the dispute between Italy and Greece, now on the way to final settlement, would not be reopened. He then delivered another severe blow to the authority of the league, declaring that the covenant was not supreme international law, but only part of fundamental legislation for regulating international conduct.

BULGARIAN irregulars and Macedonian Irredentists are bringing on a crisis between Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria. They have been gathering along the frontier, and Belgrade has warned Sofia that if they invade Serbian territory war will result. Bulgaria has sought the diplomatic intervention of the allied powers.

PRIME MINISTER BALDWIN spent a couple of days in Paris last week and had a long, chummy talk with Premier Poincare about world affairs in general and German reparations in particular. It is understood Poincare expressed a willingness to meet Baldwin next month in London when probably a more formal discussion will be held. The German reichstag has been called to meet September 26, and it is presumed Chancellor Stresemann will announce an increased offer to France and also the formal withdrawal of the passive resistance policy in the Ruhr.

POOR Japan, struggling toward recovery, was afflicted again. A typhoon struck the eastern coast and a tremendous rainfall brought floods that drowned thousands of the refugees of the earthquake. The first foreign check to be received in Japan for the relief of the quake victims was handed to Premier Yamamoto by Ambassador Woods. It was for $1,000,000 and came from the American people through the Red Cross. The American army and navy representatives there are exceedingly active in the relief work, and at home the Red Cross fund is growing daily, being well on the way to $10,000,000.

CCHEERFUL news comes from Washington in a treasury statement. During the first ten weeks of the new fiscal year, ending September 15, the government reduced its usual expenses $42,000,000 and increased its income $29,000,000. The increased revenue included $12,000,000 in customs and $28,000,000 in income taxes. Miscellaneous internal revenue increases showed $239,000,000 or a decline of about $5,000,000. The total income tax collection figure was given as $124,000,000.

Interest on the public debt was only $38,000,000, a reduction of $12,000,000. In general expenses for legislative and legislative departments, a decrease of $20,000,000 is shown, reducing the cost to $425,000,000.

The shipping board was one of the few departments showing an increase in expense. It climbed to $21,468,000, an increase of $6,000,000. Refunds of customs and internal revenue receipts totaled $30,000,000, but this was $12,000,000 less than in the same period last year. Railroad claims settlements caused withdrawals amounting to $18,900,000, as against $21,000,000 last year.

UNITED STATES Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, in a letter to Congressman Hill of Maryland, says it is the intention of the government "to interfere as little as possible" with the right of the farmer to make cider. He continues: "Compared with the abuses arising from the manufacture of distilled spirits and fermented liquors, violations of the national prohibition act arising from the practices of farmers and of manufacturers of cider and fruit juices are practically inconsequential."

Great Britain has replied to Secretary Hughes' proposal for a reciprocal agreement on ship liquor and liquor smuggling, including extension of the search limit to twelve miles, and the reply is described in Washington as being "not sympathetic" to the plan. However, the British government will submit the question to the imperial conference which meets next month in London.

WHEN the new dall of the Irish Free State met in Dublin, every one of the 109 members who had taken the oath of allegiance was present, and they unanimously re-elected William Cosgrave president of the state. Forty-four Republican members were absent, eighteen of them being in prison. An appeal by a Farmer member that these rebels be permitted to meet and decide their policy was indignantly rejected by Cosgrave and others, who declared there would be no compromise with rebellion.

MORE than fifty blocks of the best residence section of Berkeley, Cal., were swept by flames early in the week, and between 12,000 and 15,000 persons were made homeless. The property loss was probably about $5,000,000. The city is the site of the University of California, and one of the most attractive in the West. Three other smaller California towns also were burned, all the conflagrations originating in forest fires.

 A universal custom that benefits everybody.
 Aids digestion, cleanses the teeth, soothes the throat.

According to Father, Willie was doing penance in the corner. Presently he thought aloud pensively. "I can't help it if I'm not perfect," he sighed. "I never heard of but one perfect boy, anyways." "Who was that?" asked his mother, thinking to point a moral. "Papa," came the silencing reply, "when he was little."—Chicago Tribune.

Origin of Halibut.
 The halibut is a name of interesting and unexpected origin, says Nature Magazine. An approved spelling of the name is "hollibut," and the derivation of the first portion of the word is the English "holy." "Butte" was the old English name of the founder, and the name "hollibut" or "halibut" was formed from "holy" and "butte" as indicating that this important food fish was much used as an article of diet for "holy" days or "holidays."

 Lightning made a strange incursion into a country house near Tarent, in Austria. The others were unharmed.—London Titbits.

long been masters in the art of making alloys. Gongs and bells, with their perfect tones, whose origin is mingled with the legendary origin of their inventors, have stirred experts to admiration and in vain have they tried to imitate them. Chemical analysis has determined the composition of the ton-toms, but the details of their manufacture, the hand of the artisans, remain mysteries. It is the same with those vessels of ancient bronze, so treasured by collectors.

Causes That Produce Dreams. Many dreams are due to physical effort and surroundings—a curtain flapping in the wind near the bed, covering that is too heavy, a lamp in the mattress, noise in the street, one of these things may be the cause of a dream. Other dreams are due to internal conditions, such as dreams of illness. It often occurs that a man who does not know he has anything wrong with him will dream of being very ill and in a few days become ill of the same ailment of which he dreamed. That is said to be due to the fact that the subconscious elaborated and amplified the hidden latent disease which even physicians might not have been able to discover. There is an old theory that dreams are due solely to the excessive or inadequate amount of blood that is in the brain during sleep, but this theory, according to a leading scientist, is only partially true and does not offer any real or valuable explanation of dreams.

TOOK THE PLACE OF LATIN

Why French Has Been Known for Centuries as the "Language of Diplomacy."

French is called "the language of diplomacy" because for about 300 years the custom has been for diplomats belonging to different countries to use this language as an international medium of speech. The reason for this usage is not only that French is very clear and expressive—having many "nuances" or shades of meaning—but it is the "polite" language (the language of courts and courtiers), and in a way, perhaps, the logical successor of Latin—once employed as a medium for conversation by any educated man who belonged to different countries.

In the Twelfth and Thirteenth centuries French was used extensively throughout Europe. In England it rivaled the native tongue for two centuries after the Norman conquest of 1066. In Germany princes and barons engaged French-born tutors for their children, while the long reign of Louis XIV of France (the "Grand Monarque"), in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries, largely contributed towards making French an international language. The recent tendency has been to combine this use of French to oral intercourse—written instructions and other diplomatic dispatches being usually couched in the language of the persons employing and transmitting them.

CARRYING REALISM TOO FAR

Over-Ambitious Stage Managers Are Apt to Forget That in Their Efforts to Impress.

"It takes no extraordinary mind," writes a stage manager, "to see that a pictorial artist would be dissatisfied with realism as a means of expression, but there are none who have expressed half so clearly as Arthur Hopkins the manner in which realistic settings defeat their own purpose, which is the illusion of actuality."

"If a particular restaurant in all its detail is offered," says Mr. Hopkins, "it remains for the audience to recall its mental photograph of that restaurant and check it up with what is shown on the stage. . . . The result of the whole mental comparing process is to impress upon the auditor that he is in a theater witnessing a very accurate reproduction, only remarkable because it is not real. So the upshot of the realistic effort is further to emphasize the unreality of the whole attempt, setting, play and all."

Death in a Fox Fur.

A singular case of death caused by a fox fur is recorded from Bourges. In this case the head of the animal had been set up in a lifelike pose, its jaws, still set with teeth, serving as a fastener. The owner of the fur was joking with a girl friend about the fur and with the jaws slightly scratched her friend's nose. The incident was forgotten until two days later when the girl's nose began to swell, and she found that she must have been pricked by one of the animal's teeth. An operation was carried out, but this intervention proved too late and the girl died within a few hours. The plunger of the wound which caused the girl's death lay to a great extent in its apparent insignificance, for it was so slight that it did not even bleed or cause any inconvenience until it was too late to apply antiseptic measures effectively. Paris Correspondence, London Telegraph.

Fishy Golf Tale.

Freak golf shots are heard of oft and on all the time, the latest having to do with a fish—a somewhat suspicious connection, to be sure. J. W. Williams, in an attempt to see how far he could hit a ball, drove from a cliff on Lake Erie. As the ball was about to descend into the water, so the tale proceeds—a huge fish leaped above the surface and caught it in its mouth. Within the next hour the golfer, walking on the beach in that vicinity found a six-foot sturgeon well inflating its gills. With his index he struck the fish and then pulled it ashore. When the fish was prepared for consumption the golf ball was found worked in its gullet, so that the club to which Williams belongs had struck sturgeon for a week.

Attractive National Park.

Mount Ranier National park, with an area of 324 square miles, in west central Washington, was created in 1899. Its distinctive characteristics are the largest accessible single-peak system in the world, 28 glaciers, some of which are enormous in size; 48 square miles of glaciers, 50 to 1000 feet thick, and remarkable subalpine wildflower fields. Mount Ranier itself towers 11,398 feet above tide-water in Pugar sound. Excellent roads and trails, grand rivers of ice, snow-covered peaks, numerous waterfalls, giant fir and cedar trees and deep lakes of all colors of the rainbow are a few of the side attractions.

The fussy station master of a small village near Edinburgh found one night a fellow countryman standing, nonchalantly smoking, with his feet half over the edge of the "up" platform.

"Don't you know that the Edinburgh express is passing here directly at 60 miles an hour?" said the station master. "Come back, come back!" The other slowly turned his head and taking the pipe out of his mouth, replied: "You're awfully good for your train!" (London News.)

PLEASANT VOICE AN ASSET

Too Many Think Little of Gift for Which No One Can Be Too Thankful.

To speak correctly—in the grammatical sense—is an asset. To be able to speak fluently, with an absence of "st" and "um," is another asset. To be able to command a crowd of words is yet another asset.

And the greatest asset of all is to have a pleasant voice. Possessing that, grammatical slips and lack of fluency can, in moderation, be overlooked.

Some of us have inherited a pleasant voice, and for the gift we ought to be supremely thankful. But not all keep it. The gift is frittered away. A querulous temper not only puts its lines on the face, but in time the voice is affected.

The pleasant tone departs. The habit of grumbling also affects the voice. The cult of disagreeableness does the same. If we are in a position in which we have to rub others, our one-time pleasant voice, if we abuse our position and become snippy, by ranting and domineering, will go.

To put it briefly, every vice affects the voice.

Remember that the refrain, "It's not exactly what he says; it's the noisy way he says it!" is particularly true.

FORGOT THEIR OLD ENMITY

Dinner Brought About Complete Reconciliation Between Disraeli and One-Time Opponent.

An interesting instance of a dinner of reconciliation between those estranged in politics was that at which Disraeli and Lord Carrington buried the hatchet in London. In 1832 Lord Carrington, then Robert Smith, was Disraeli's opponent at the hustings. The contest left them with such embittered relations that for six years they did not speak; but in December, 1838, Disraeli met on the road near Bradenham "a coterie of dandies and grooms" who were about to call on him conveying an invitation from Lord Carrington to dine at Wycombe the following day. At first Disraeli refused, but, pressed by Lord Forrester, Carrington's brother-in-law, he afterward consented.

The completeness of the reconciliation may be judged by some extracts from Disraeli's diary, reprints the Detroit News. "Our party was rather noisy, but very gay. I did not get home until past midnight, or rather near the dunes of . . . I could scarcely resist their entreaties that I should remain and send for my toilette in the morning."

Privileged Mendicants.

The monks or friarsman was an order of privileged mendicants of Scotland, of which the latest trace did not expire till 1825. The first appellation was due to the distribution among these persons of a gown of blue cloth, to which were added a hat of brown, a bottle of ale and a leather purse containing a penny for every year of the ruling sovereign's age. Annually a new Mendicant, or Blue Gown, was elected. Each member of the body bore a pewter badge, on which were inscribed his name and the words past and present.

The usage, which had its origin in the ancient practice of almsgiving prayer, resolved itself into a public charity, of which the sum was forgotten, and in 1825 60 Mendicants were on the roll. No appointments were made after that date, and the last survivor died his old age in the exchequer at Edinburgh in May, 1835.

Famous Tree in Park.

General Grant National park in California, is but 52 miles from Sequoia by good road. It became a national park in 1890 to preserve the celebrated General Grant tree, the second in size and age in the world, being superseded only by the General Sherman tree, the largest and oldest living thing in all the world. The General Grant tree has a diameter of 35 feet, while the General Sherman measures 36 1/2 feet in diameter. This park has an area of but four square miles, yet every mile of it is packed brimming full of an unusually attractive scenery.

Old Educational Institutions.

The grammar school of Aberdeen claims to be the oldest school in the British empire. The possession says that in the register of the abbey of Arbroath, under date of 1262, one Thomas de Benham was designated Rector Scholarem de Aberdona. Merton college, Oxford, is the most ancient educational institution in the south, the date of her foundation being 1271. The oldest school in England is Winchester, which dates from 1027.

WESTERN TARIFF CONGRESS TO MEET IN DENVER OCT. 3-4

Denver, Colo., Sept. 25.—President Coolidge will send a written message to the Western Tariff Congress, which meets here October 3 and 4. It was announced at headquarters of the congress following receipt of advice from Washington. Officials of the congress expect the statement from the president to be the first public utterance of the new chief executive on the tariff under the present tariff act—congress centered upon the president's grant power in giving him the right to change tariff under the Executive provision, and the distribution of the president in the House proceedings regarding the tariff congress in the country at large. The president's message is expected to be in answer to a resolution passed by the congress in session at Salt Lake City recently, in which it requested the president to the Congress to present the tariff question to the people in a referendum. The tariff congress will be a gathering of tariff men from all over the West. Send us $2 for a year's subscription; you'll never get more for your money.
