LOOK INTO WEATHER RECORDS BEFORE YOU CHANGE HOMES

Lack of information about weather conditions may result disastrously for those who enter new regions in the hope of success with farming operations. The needed facts may be obtained in advance by consulting the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture. Two instances of losses of this kind have recently come to the attention of weather officials.

In one case, about 50 families of emigrants, having a common language and social experience, moved into what was supposed to be a dry farming section without properly considering the weather records. That district became prominent during the next few years, when the emigrants failed to get crops for want of rain and were forced to move at a great loss.
In the other, the colonization agent for a large religious organization was offered an irrigation project, supposedly worth $100,000 at basic land prices, for the sum of $18,000, which the company had already invested in improvements. The company expected to make the project worth a million dollars, but failed to finance it for a very good reason. The weather records, which they had overlooked, contained the answer, and the colonization agent turned the offer down. The summers are so short and the nights so cool as to threaten even barley and flax as regular crops.

GODD ROADS HELP FARMER TO MARKET

Farmers living on or near hard roads are discovering that they can hitch one good team to two loads of corn, wheat, hay or whatever they have to sell and go to market easier than they formerly did with one load hitched to the same team. Even good gravel roads in condition permit the pulling of a much heavier load than on the old dirt roads. Farmers find that by moving another new wagon, they can cut their distance from market in half, and one man can do the hauling formerly requiring two. By hauling salt, lumber, new farm machinery, etc., on the return trip, the profit in time and labor gained from good roads is again increased.

WOMEN WALK ACROSS STATE FOR WATER

Arkansas, California, Virginia, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and New York are cooperating with the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers to aid in a campaign to help farm women get running water in their homes. Ohio experiment station engineers figure many women without this first essential of home-making are walking 200 miles a year in extra steps, when $25 to $450 would equip their homes and add ten years to their lives.

ITS UP TO YOU

You may be a big man in the business world. Your properties may represent many good round, hard dollars. You may take an interest in politics to the extent of complaining about taxation, too much legislation, unless regulation of industry, etc. You may send your boy to college and your daughter to a finishing school. You may be a "successful" American business man.
But do you take a ninterest in the government which protects your property? Or are you merely one of the "kickers" who complain about the "radicals"? Do you go to the polls and vote for men and measures you believe sound or do you instead, go out and play golf on election day and let the fellow about whom you complain do all the voting.
Don't kick unless you are willing to do your duty as a citizen at the polls. No matter how "big" you are your vote is worth no more than the poorest man in town.
The "bigger" you are, the more necessary it is for you to vote, teach your children to vote and your wife to vote. Don't leave some body else to do your voting for you and then kick at results.
"Your" government will be just as good as you help make it and no better.

U. OF A. MILITARY DEPT. "DISTINGUISHED UNIT"

TUCSON, Ariz., June —For the second consecutive year, the military department at the University of Arizona has been designated one of the few "distinguished units" of the country, according to word received from the War Department by the University this week.
Only a limited number of schools in the country are given this each year, and for Arizona to have it for two successive years is considered quite an honor. Included in the telegram received by President Marvin were the congratulations of both the Secretary of War and the Corps Area Commander. The wire was sent by General Hines, Commanding General of the Eighth Corps Area.

In an interview with Colonel Parker, who for the past three years has been head of the military department at the University, the Colonel stated that because of increased competition from other units, he was doubtful about holding the honor here for the coming year. The unit itself, he stated, was as good as last year when it was first given the rating, but many other units have made wonderful progress.
The potential efficiency of the unit is also reduced by supplementary activities such as polo, horse shows, riding classes, and other things, which detract from the available time for drill, Colonel Parker said.
Praise for the support of the other officers in the unit was expressed by the Colonel, and he stated that without their earnest work the honor would not have been again won here.

ONION, NEW STATE PRODUCT

Growing of Valencia onions is rapidly developing into one of the important agricultural industries of the state, with prospects of a crop of 1,000 cars, perhaps within another year, according to results of a survey of the Cochise county growing districts furnished the Arizona Industrial Congress by H. P. Maxwell who has been chosen sales manager of the growers' association.
Mr. Maxwell reported that the growers expect to have about 80 carloads of the "best on earth" Valencias, and that they will pack the onions in crates made in Flagstaff. Seed stock is in full bloom, and as the growers are following a policy of extending acreage as rapidly as seed can be had, it is possible that the 1,000 car crop may be realized next year.
In response to a request from the onion growers association, the Industrial Congress is calling the crop to the attention of wholesale produce dealers and distributors of the state, and also outside commission firms which operate in Arizona.
The Cochise county Valencias, also known as the sweet Spanish type, are grown in few other sections of the country, and are of exactly the same class and quality as those imported from Spain in tremendous quantities each year. Yields obtained in the San Simon, San Pedro and Sulphur Springs Valleys are phenomenal, 1,000 bushels to the acre being frequently reported.

ARIZONA BOY TO OLYMPICS

An Arizona boy will carry the colors of the United States in the long distance swims of the Olympics being held this year in Paris, France.
Wallace O'Connor, son of former Superior Judge J. E. O'Connor, of Florence and nephew to Judge W. A. O'Connor and Andy O'Connor of this city, has been selected as one of the swimming team from the United States to carry the national emblem against the picked teams of other nations in the world.

BULLS FIRST IN BETTER-SIRES LIST

Purebred bulls occupy first place (pony excluded) in livestock improvement efforts among general farmers, according to the report on the progress of the "Better Sire—Better Stock" campaign, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.
The livestock owned by the 13,702 persons who have placed their animal-breeding operations on a purebred-sire basis in cooperation with Federal and State forces includes 11,666 purebred bulls. The purebred boars listed in the report number 8,578, and rams 4,733. The number of stallions is considerably less, there being 1,071. While the report deals chiefly with the larger animals, it is noteworthy that from the standpoint of numbers poultry exceeded all other stock combined in better-sires activities. The total number of fowls owned by persons participating in the campaign exceeds a million, of which more than 45,000 are standard-bred male birds.

SHORT CUTS IN HAY HARVEST

The piling up of the labor peak from hay harvest, corn cultivation and small grain harvest has been increased in the last few years because of farm labor shortage and more clover and alfalfa crops. These legume crops demand fast and proper handling if full value is to be gotten from them. Those farmers having tractors are hooking up two or more mowers, side delivery rakes, hay loaders, wagons for hauling hay from field to barn, etc. Wider cutting mowers are also in order. Where storage in the barn is the rule, the hooking of two or more loads of hay behind the tractor for hauling distances from field to farm has proved an economy. Baling the hay on a moving wagon as it comes from the hayloader is practiced by one ingenious Kansas farmer, the tractor pulling the outfit. This permits a big saving in hay of 20% to 23%, as it can all go into the barn instead of being stacked out.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY MINISTERIAL ALLIANCE

We deprecate war, and will use all honorable influence to avoid it, and prevent it.
At the same time we approve the action of the United States government in holding Citizens' Military Training Camps for young men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four years. These camps are intended to instill into the minds of our young men, loyalty to country, obedience to law, and devotion to principle, as well as to establish a feeling of comradeship among all the young men of the Nation.
We therefore commend the movement most heartily to the attention of all the parents of our churches, and would urge them to have their sons take advantage of this great opportunity.

COAST FRUITS CULTIVATED AND SPRAYED

California and Oregon did not believe the top in fruit production and marketing by chance. Cultivation and spraying gives the Coast producers a perfect fruit as regards color, size, and soundness before it is packed and sent to the far end of the earth to beat the producers of the rest of the world in the market for quality. The quality market is the one that pays the grower, and that is the market but because the hazards of nature are reduced to the minimum by the latest and best equipment backed by brains.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

I remember when a boy, of hearing a story of a Yankee showman, the forerunner, no doubt, of the lamented Phineas T. Barnum, who gathered in a goodly quantity of dimes by barking the following lines at the passing crowd:
"Come one and all if you want for to see
A horse with his tail where his head ought to be."
On the payment of the admittance fee, the gullible were permitted to enter and gaze their fill on a very ordinary specimen of the equine family tied in his stall krong end to.
This story heard half a century ago is brought back to my mind by the similarity of the aforesaid showman's horse and the presidential ticket recently fabricated at the great political show just closing its doors for the season at Cleveland—only one don't have to pay a dime I went to get to see it.
G. M. Willard, State Game Warden.

OUTTIN A MELON

Have you heard the joyful tidings Coming from the distant East, Of a melon out by Mellon
At a three hundred million feast?
I have read the pleasing story and it really sounds quite nice, Yet I'm just a little fearful That I may not get my slice.
For there's something in the cutting, As we heretofore have found That the cutter cuts the melon So it will not go around.
In the cutting of this melon We are very apt to find That the red meat goes to Wall Street To the rest of us the rind.
Do you hear the hallicujahs Welling up from sea to sea? 'Tis the soldier boys expressing Their deep gratitude and glee.
